Redefinition Of Catholic Role Is Sought

Ecumenical Council Hears Pope Call for Reform in Church

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A proposed redefinition of the Roman Catholic church won general endorsement today from the first prelates to speak at the second phase of the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

Two cardinals and six bishops took the floor in St. Peter's Basilica as the 2,500 council fathers resumed working sessions. Pope Paul VI reopened the council Sunday after a nine-month recess with a strong appeal for church reform.

The council press office, summarizing today's three-hour meeting, told newsmen the schema (topic) before the assembly—"De Ecclesia," concerning the church—was accepted by speakers as "a good foundation on which to build."

It was revised during the recess, and undoubtedly will be revised further. It will be the main topic before the council's session ending Dec. 4.

The schema, considered the key to all the council's work, proposed a new way for the Roman Catholic church to look at its structure. It came up originally at the council's first session last year and was criticized by many fathers as being too juridical and academic and not sufficiently pastoral. There was criticism that the original draft would not help the cause of Christian unity.

During the recess, a council spokesman said today, 372 proposed corrections and amendments to the first half of the schema were mailed to the Vatican by prelates around the world.

A feeling was evident among the church fathers that the session would move with greater speed and efficiency than the first, which ran from Oct. 11 to Dec. 8 last year. This session will continue until Dec. 4.

A young American bishop summed up this spirit. "I think all the bishops are coming back to this session with a lot more enthusiasm. They know now what is intended and what it is they are trying to do."

In opening the council, Pope Paul said its aims were redefinition and reform of the Catholic Church, restoring Christian unity and closer contact with today's world.

He called the Episcopal assembly a council "of invitation, of expectation, of confidence." His clear voice rolled through the hushed Basilica and out to a crowd of 50,000 persons in St. Peter's Square as he delivered the 10,000-word address in Latin.

Like Pope John, Pope Paul held the door open for a reunification of Christians. To the Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox observers seated near him, he said: "We lay no snares. We do not wish to make of our faith an occasion for polemics."

10 Terrorists Held In Venezuela Raid

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Authorities Sunday arrested five men and five women several hours after a band of pro-Communist terrorists, posing as tourists, fought a gun battle with national guardsmen aboard an excursion train 20 miles from Caracas.

Five guardsmen were killed and six passengers, including several children, wounded.

Those arrested were believed to be members of the pro-Communist Armed Forces of National Liberation (FALN) which has been waging a continuous terrorism campaign against the regime of President Romulo Betan court.

Decision Near On Grain Sale To Russians

WASHINGTON (AP)—The big question of whether to permit the sale of wheat to the Soviet Union lies in the decision basket for President Kennedy, returning to his White House desk today.

Some high officials expect him to say yes.

The Russians have made no formal request to this country. But Soviet negotiators have been talking in Ottawa of deals for American grain. One report mentioned three million tons at $250 million.

Administration officials sounded out Congress last week on feelings about a grain deal with the Soviets. It is understood that there was some outspoken opposition. However, it is reported that the officials considered the burden of congressional sentiment to be in favor of it.

The government departments involved are expected to recommend a policy change to permit the grain sale when they meet with the President, probably Tuesday.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told newsmen in Cleveland, Ohio, Sunday night that the question would be resolved in a few days.

He said any proposal to sell wheat to the Soviet Union will include a provision forbidding its resale to Cuba.

Canada recently sold some $500 million worth of wheat to the Soviet Union.

dead man; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Arnold James and their infant son, Ricky.

James was traveling north on Route 207. The other car, containing the victim, his brother and Clyde Sheets, was traveling west on the Judas Road.

THE MEADOWS car passed a stop sign, driving directly into the path of the James car, according to the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

The accident is still under investigation by the sheriff's department pending determination of the driver of the death car.

Conflicting stories have been given to the authorities by Sheets, currently incarcerated in the county jail, and Orville Meadows.

The fatality marks the 12th traffic death in Pickaway County in 1963. Both cars were demolished.

Meadows was born July 3, 1944. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Meadows, Mt. Sterling, who survive.

Other survivors include four brothers, Glenn, Orville, George, Billy; two sisters, Susie Meadows and Mrs. Betty Smith.

FUNERAL services will be 10 a. m. Wednesday in the Snyder Funeral Home, Mt. Sterling. Burial will be in Pleasant Cemetery.

Bosch Sails Into Exile

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Ex-President Juan Bosch sailed into exile aboard a Dominican navy frigate today after charging the military coup that overthrew him was organized before his inauguration last February.

A high official source said Bosch would be landed on the French island of Guadeloupe, probably early today. With Bosch aboard the frigate Mella were his wife and Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, a leader of the military junta which removed the president from office Wednesday on charges he was soft on communism and his administration was chaotic.

Bosch was elected president by an overwhelming vote in the Dominican Republic's first free elections since dictator Rafael L. Trujillo took power more than 30 years ago.

Once Around Roundtown

A HEAVY frost covered most of the Pickaway County area early today as the mercury dropped to a seasons low of 29 degrees.

The temperature began dropping early yesterday afternoon and by nightfall many area residents turned their furnaces on for the first time this season.

YESTERDAY'S chilly weather prompted a Knollwood Village family to initiate the living room fireplace this year. However, after several logs were well ignited, a down draft caused by the wind filled the house with smoke.

This, in turn, necessitated the opening of doors, again dropping the room temperature to an uncomfortable degree.

Innocent Pleas Filed in Air Force Case

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Four men involved in cases of alleged embezzlement and bribery at Wright-Patterson Air Force base near here pleaded innocent today in U. S. District Court.

Emanuel Siegel, 57-year-old vice president of Loral Electronics Co. of New York City, was indicted on two counts of bribing a federal employee to influence a decision on a government contract. Also indicted in the case, on charges of aiding and abetting, was Stanley Tarnoff of Dayton, a local agent for Loral. Maximum sentence on each count is a $20,000 fine or 15 years in prison, or both.

In the second case, William S. Clark, 51, former vice president of the Clark Cable Co. of Cleveland, was indicted on charges of receiving embezzled government property—unclassified engineering drawings on microcircuits. James Redd, 43, of nearby Fairborn, is accused of embezzling the cards. Redd formerly was employed in a division of the Air Force Logistics Command at the base. If convicted, Clark and Redd face maximum sentences of $10,000 or 10 years, or both.

Trial dates have not been set in any of the cases.

Viet Nam Data Being Readied

McNamara Is at Work On Report for JFK

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara today postponed his departure for Washington for 24 hours.

McNamara had planned to leave Saigon later today after a one-week inspection tour of South Viet Nam for President Kennedy.

A spokesman said the secretary was delaying his departure until Tuesday to give himself more time to work here on his top secret report for the White House.

McNamara also passed up the last battle area field trip arranged for him, a 3½-hour visit today to the Communist-infested 3rd Corps area of central Viet Nam. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, made the trip.

The American visitors last week spent three days in arduous inspections of the three other corps areas.

The secretary will report to Kennedy on the progress of the war against Viet Cong guerrillas and the effect, if any, on the war of the bitter controversy between the Buddhists and President Ngo Dinh Diem's regime.

McNamara had his first meeting with President Diem Sunday, a three-hour conference. There was no indication of what was said but presumably the Buddhist controversy was a major item of discussion.

The president's controversial brother and chief adviser, Ngo Dinh Nhu, was not present at the meeting. The anti-Buddhist campaign is generally attributed to him and the United States has been putting pressure on Diem to remove him from his extremely influential spot.

Diem in an interview published Sunday in the Manila Sunday Times warned that if all American aid to Viet Nam was stopped, "the whole world, including America, would suffer the consequences."

"But don't get alarmed," he added, "I don't think things will turn out to be as bad as that."

Ohioan Sees Civil Rights Bill Trimmed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, believes the House Judiciary Committee will tone down the sweeping civil rights bill approved by one of its subcommittees.

The Ohio congressman said he expects the key public accommodations section will be "materially modified" and some of the powers given to the attorney general will be eliminated.

McCulloch, the ranking Republican on the committee, made his prediction on a television program Sunday with Rep. Harold C. Ostertag, R-N.Y.

Integration Leader Chides U.S. Clergymen

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Rev. Martin Luther King says that in his opinion the church too often has been the "tailight instead of the headlight" in the civil rights struggle.

The Negro integration leader criticized clergymen who avoided the question and hid behind the "security of stained-glass windows . . . behind pious irreflexivities and sanctimonious trivialities."

He did give them a lot of hurdles to get over. Browder's three sons, all university mathematicians holding doctorates, visit him regularly at the apartment he has occupied for 27 years in Yonkers, a community just north of New York City.

Browder contended that although he wholeheartedly embraced Communist dogma in the 1920s, he devoted his energy to labor and social reforms.

"I think on the whole that the party under my leadership played a very constructive role," Browder said, explaining that he never felt subversive or disloyal.

Belated Report Highly Critical of County Officials

An audit of Pickaway County Public offices and agencies was released yesterday — nearly 10 months after it was completed by George E. Collet, a state examiner.

The belated 140-page report, highly critical of county government operations here, was made available for release only yesterday. This release date served as a definite advantage for newspapers publishing on Sunday.

Information, comments and suggestions included in Collet's audit cover a period of Feb. 1, 1959 through May 31, 1961.

Delay in releasing the report, according to spokesmen here today, probably was due to the change in administration of state offices. James A. Rhodes was state auditor at the time Collet's findings were submitted for review. Rhodes moved into the governor's office in January of 1963.

SEVERAL unsuccessful attempts were made here earlier in the year to obtain results of the examiner's report following its completion last November. State office spokesmen indicated notification would be made prior to release of the report. However, the office failed to give advance notice of the release date.

Several county offices today contested many of the examiner's findings. Others noted that deficiencies, as listed by Collet, have been made to do so since the long period when the audit was completed.

Failure to keep proper records and numerous irregularities were cited throughout the comprehensive audit by Collet.

The lengthy compilation of the examiner's findings covers 33 county offices and agencies. All official business conducted by each official was subject to the state audit.

According to records, the last comprehensive audit was made during Verna O'Hara's tenure as Pickaway County Auditor prior to 1958. In March 1958, the examination of the auditor's records was completed when Miss O'Hara left office. The examiner at that time was Thomas A. Dittoe.

Many phases of Pickaway County's government operations were heavily criticized in the state examiner's report based on the "bare figures" in Collet's summary of findings.

In an effort to give a more complete picture of the audit, a series of articles beginning tomorrow will state the examiner's findings along with comments (when available) by the various county employees and officials concerned.

Ben Bella Troops Seeking To Quell Algerian Berbers

TIZI OUZOU, Algeria (AP)—Troops loyal to President Ahmed Ben Bella entered the Kabylie mountain town of Tizi Ouzou today to stem a revolt of Berber units.

Col. Mohand Ou El Hadj, removed by Ben Bella from command of the 7th military region, left Tizi Ouzou with his staff and some troops.

Algerian army officers said the dissident units set up roadblocks east and south of Tizi Ouzou but did not interfere seriously with the movement of government convoys.

Government troops closed all exits from Tizi Ouzou, 70 miles east of Algiers, and searched all cars and motorists leaving the area. Armored troop carriers mounting machine guns were parked in the city.

The troop commander, who declined to give his name, told newsmen, "for the time being, everything is calm. We receive orders directly from Algiers."

Ou El Hadj commanded some 8,000 to 10,000 men, most of whom served under his orders during the war for independence.

Government officers said a part of this force is forming guerrilla units in the steep Kabylie ranges. Government officers described the movement as a putsch and said the situation was serious.

Unconfirmed reports said Defense Minister Col. Houari Boumedienne was cancelling his departure for Moscow scheduled for tonight.

Ben Bella took personal command of the Defense Ministry with the departure for Moscow of Defense Minister Col. Houari Boumedienne, considered a strong man in the government. Previous reports said Boumedienne was canceling the trip which was set up to work out details of a 50 billion franc ($100 million) loan from the Soviet Union.

Berbers in the Kabylie area took to the streets Sunday shouting, "Down with Ben Bella!" Meanwhile an underground group calling itself the front of Socialist forces (FFS) proclaimed all-out war on Ben Bella's one-man rule.

The crisis erupted two weeks after Ben Bella's unopposed election as president and raised serious doubt that he would leave for New York next week as planned. He wants to appeal personally to the United Nations for a massive U.N. program to free Portugal's African colonies and South Africa from white domination.

Ben Bella said in a radio broadcast the crisis resulted from "a subversive movement threatening the security of the state."

His first move was to remove greater Kabylie's wartime hero, Col. Ou El Hadj, as commander of the 7th military region for statements approving the opposition.

Private, Public College Costs Eyed

RIO GRANDE, Ohio (AP)—The new president of Rio Grande College says educators and the public have permitted rising costs to make education unavailable to many talented young people.

This was the gist of the inaugural address Sunday of Dr. Alphonse R. Christensen after his investiture as the 12th president of the college.

He said inadequate appropriations have pushed up the cost to individual students at public universities "and the cost differential between private and public higher education is decreasing."

"The total cost at many private colleges may be equal to, or even less than, many public supported institutions," he said.

Officials Mum On Church Case

Men Previously Tied To Racial Incidents

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Two white men were placed in city jail early today for further investigation into the series of bombings that have rocked this racially-troubled city for several years.

Col. Al Lingo, head of the State Highway Patrol, said others picked up in the intensified investigation have been released. He declined to say how many others had been questioned.

Night Warden L. A. Holcomb identified the two being held as R. E. Chambliss, 59, and Charles Cagle, 22, both of the Birmingham area.

Chambliss was found innocent in 1949 on a charge of flogging while masked. He has been active in anti-integration efforts. Officers had to restrain Chambliss recently when he engaged in a near brawl with a newsman at a segregation meeting.

Cagle has been affiliated with anti-integration activities, mostly in the area south of Birmingham. Last summer he was arrested while going to a Ku Klux Klan rally in Tuscaloosa a short time before the University of Alabama was desegregated. State officials identified him as a Klansman and said that he was carrying a weapon.

Both men had been under surveillance by city, county and federal agents. The local law enforcement agencies said that the arrests by the state came as a surprise.

Lingo said that the state was conducting its investigation apart from any other police agency.

Lingo would give no information on the men, nor on results of the questioning. He also declined to definitely link them with the blast at the Sixteenth Street Baptist Church Sept. 15 in which four young Negro girls were killed.

Ike 'Unclear' On Views Held By Goldwater

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says he is "unclear" about Sen. Barry Goldwater's views. The Arizona senator replies that he can't understand it, "in view of the wide publication my views have received."

Goldwater's reply was carried in today's New York Herald Tribune, which Sunday published the statement by Eisenhower.

The former president denied what he said are reports that he is "anti-Goldwater." "This is simply not true," he said.

But Eisenhower said in the copyright Herald Tribune story under his byline:

"I am unclear on precisely what Sen. Goldwater's present views are, and I think all Republicans would want to learn more about how he — and each of the other possible (presidential) candidates — would now approach the issues of 1964."

"Only when these men are on record with their current views will the party be in a position to make the most intelligent choice."

Fatality Ends Logan's Lengthy Safety Mark

The victim was Mrs. Goldie L. Hudnell, 45, who was riding with her husband Clovis, 48, and two children, Frank, 6, and Johnny, 8. Police said their car was involved in an intersection collision with one driven by Donald D. Rose, 17, Rt. 3, Logan, Sunday.

Police said the last traffic fatality in Logan was a pedestrian Dec. 13, 1956. No fatalities involving only vehicles could be recalled as far back as 1948.

Redefinition Of Catholic Role Is Sought

Ecumenical Council Hears Pope Call for Reform in Church

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A proposed redefinition of the Roman Catholic church won general endorsement today from the first prelates to speak at the second phase of the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

Two cardinals and six bishops took the floor in St. Peter's Basilica as the 2,500 council fathers resumed working sessions. Pope Paul VI reopened the council Sunday after a nine-month recess with a strong appeal for church reform.

The council press office, summarizing today's three-hour meeting, told newsmen the schema (topic) before the assembly—"De Ecclesia," concerning the church—was accepted by speakers as "a good foundation on which to build."

It was revised during the recess, and undoubtedly will be revised further. It will be the main topic before the council's session ending Dec. 4.

It came up originally at the council's first session last year and was criticized by many fathers as being too juridical and academic and not sufficiently pastoral. There was criticism that the original draft would not help the cause of Christian unity.

During the recess, a council spokesman said today, 372 proposed corrections and amendments to the first half of the schema were mailed to the Vatican by prelates around the world.

A young American bishop summed up this spirit. "I think all the bishops are coming back to this session with a lot more enthusiasm. They know now what is intended and what it is they are trying to do."

In opening the council, Pope Paul said its aims were redefinition and reform of the Catholic Church, restoring Christian unity and closer contact with today's world.

He called the Episcopal assembly a council "of invitation, of expectation, of confidence." His clear voice rolled through the hushed Basilica and out to a crowd of 50,000 persons in St. Peter's Square as he delivered the 10,000-word address in Latin.

Like Pope John, Pope Paul held the door open for a reunifying of Christians. To the Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox observers seated near him, he said: "We lay no snares, we do not wish to make of our faith an occasion for polemics."

Canada recently sold some $500 million worth of wheat to the Soviet Union.

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Two FBI agents called on a gray-haired, grandfatherly man recently, a trim little man few persons would notice in casual passing.

For two hours they explored his opinions on the background and importance of the Red Chinese Soviet conflict. They took with them his written analysis of the ideological struggle between Red China and the Soviet Union.

"It was the first friendly contact I ever had with the FBI," said Earl Browder, 72, whose contacts with the FBI have been many.

To millions of Americans, Brow-der's name is synonymous with the U. S. Communist party. He joined the party shortly after its formation and guided it for 15 years through the peak of its popularity in this country, the 1930's.

The late Soviet Premier Josef Stalin ordered Browder's ouster as general secretary, the position of power, in 1945 for "revisionism." Expulsion from the party followed.

Revisionism—or "Browderism," as it came to be known internally—consisted of advocating coexistence. Browder argued that neither armed conflict nor cold war was inevitable. He rejected the basic dogma that Communism must destroy capitalism before the world can know space and social progress.

"Khrushchev occupies today a position on the big issues in the world that I occupied in 1945," Browder said in an interview.

"When the Chinese accuse him of revisionism they are merely echoing and elaborating the arguments used against me when I was thrown out of the movement."

"They did me a favor when they kicked me out. I have no hard feelings at all. I deliberately provoked it."

Now a caustic critic of communism, Browder characterized the party in the U. S. as a weak nuisance to America.

Three times Browder went to jail—twice for World War I draft charges and once for passport fraud, a four-year term which President Franklin D. Roosevelt commuted after 14 months in 1942.

"I have no regrets about my past," said Browder. "It is a waste of time to think about it in terms of 'what if.'"

"I think I had a useful life and certainly a very interesting one. It didn't prevent my sons from finding their natural careers in science in American life, although it did give them a lot of hurdles to get over."

Browder's three sons, all university mathematicians holding doctorates, visit him regularly at the apartment he has occupied for 27 years in Yonkers, a community just north of New York City.

Integration Leader Chides U.S. Clergymen

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Rev. Martin Luther King says that in his opinion the church too often has been the "tailight instead of the headlight" in the civil rights struggle.

The Negro integration leader criticized clergymen who avoided the question and hid behind the "security of stained-glass windows . . . behind pious irrelevancies and sanctimonious trivialities."

McNamara Is at Work On Report for JFK

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara today postponed his departure for Washington for 24 hours.

McNamara had planned to leave Saigon later today after a one-week inspection tour of South Viet Nam for President Kennedy.

A spokesman said the secretary was delaying his departure until Tuesday to give himself more time to work here on his top secret report for the White House.

McNamara also passed up the last battle area field trip arranged for him, a 3½-hour visit today to the Communist-infested 3rd Corps area of central Viet Nam. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, made the trip.

The American visitors last week spent three days in arduous inspections of the three other corps areas.

The secretary will report to Kennedy on the progress of the war against Viet Cong guerrillas and the effect, if any, on the war of the bitter controversy between the Buddhists and President Ngo Dinh Diem's regime.

McNamara had his first meeting with President Diem Sunday, a three-hour conference. There was no indication of what was said but presumably the Buddhist controversy was a major item of discussion.

The president's controversial brother and chief adviser, Ngo Dinh Nhu, was not present at the meeting. The anti-Buddhist campaign is generally attributed to him and the United States has been putting pressure on Diem to remove him from his extremely influential spot.

Diem in an interview published Sunday in the Manila Sunday Times warned that if all American aid to Viet Nam was stopped, "the whole world, including America, would suffer the consequences."

"But don't get alarmed," he added, "I don't think things will turn out to be as bad as that."

OHIOAN SEES CIVIL RIGHTS BILL TRIMMED

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, believes the House Judiciary Committee will tone down the sweeping civil rights bill approved by one of its subcommittees.

The Ohio congressman said he expects the key public accommodations section will be "materially modified" and some of the powers given to the attorney general will be eliminated.

McCulloch, the ranking Republican on the committee, made his prediction on a television program Sunday with Rep. Harold C. Ostertag, R-N.Y.

Government troops closed all exits from Tizi Ouzou, 70 miles east of Algiers, and searched all cars and motorists leaving the area. Armored troop carriers mounting machine guns were parked in the city.

The troop commander, who declined to give his name, told newsmen, "for the time being, everything is calm. We receive orders directly from Algiers."

Ou El Hadj commanded some 8,000 to 10,000 men, most of whom served under his orders during the war for independence.

Government officers said a part of this force is forming guerrilla units in the steep Kabylie ranges. Government officers described the movement as a putsch and said the situation was serious.

Belated Report Highly Critical of County Officials

An audit of Pickaway County Public offices and agencies was released yesterday — nearly 10 months after it was completed by George E. Collet, a state examiner.

The belated 140-page report, highly critical of county government operations here, was made available for release only yesterday. This release date served as a definite advantage for newspapers publishing on Sunday.

Information, comments and suggestions included in Collet's audit cover a period of Feb. 1, 1959 through May 31, 1961.

Delay in releasing the report, according to spokesmen here today, probably was due to the change in administration of state offices. James A. Rhodes was state auditor at the time Collet's findings were submitted for review. Rhodes moved into the governor's office in January of 1963.

SEVERAL unsuccessful attempts were made here earlier in the year to obtain results of the examiner's report following its completion last November. State office spokesmen indicated notification would be made prior to release of the report. However, the office failed to give advance notice of the release date.

Several county offices today contested many of the examiner's findings. Others noted that deficiencies, as listed by Collet, have been corrected or attempts have been made to do so since the long period when the audit was completed.

Failure to keep proper records and numerous irregularities were cited throughout the comprehensive audit by Collet.

The lengthy compilation of the examiner's findings covers 33 county offices and agencies. All official business conducted by each official was subject to the state audit.

According to records, the last comprehensive audit was made during Verna O'Hara's tenure as Pickaway County Auditor prior to 1958. In March 1958, the examination of the auditor's records was completed when Miss O'Hara left office. The examiner at that time was Thomas A. Dittoe.

Many phases of Pickaway County's government operations were heavily criticized in the state examiner's report based on the "bare figures" in Collet's summary of findings.

In an effort to give a more complete picture of the audit, a series of articles beginning tomorrow will state the examiner's findings along with comments (when available) by the various county employees and officials concerned.

Ben Bella Troops Seeking To Quell Algerian Berbers

TIZI OUZOU, Algeria (AP)—Troops loyal to President Ahmed Ben Bella entered the Kabylie mountain town of Tizi Ouzou today to stem a revolt of Berber units.

Col. Mohand Ou El Hadj, removed by Ben Bella from command of the 7th military region, left Tizi Ouzou with his staff and some troops.

Algerian army officers said the dissident units set up roadblocks east and south of Tizi Ouzou but did not interfere seriously with the movement of government convoys.

Government troops closed all exits from Tizi Ouzou, 70 miles east of Algiers, and searched all cars and motorists leaving the area. Armored troop carriers mounting machine guns were parked in the city.

The troop commander, who declined to give his name, told newsmen, "for the time being, everything is calm. We receive orders directly from Algiers."

Men Previously Tied To Racial Incidents

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Two white men were placed in city jail early today for further investigation into the series of bombings that have rocked this racially-troubled city for several years.

Col. Al Lingo, head of the State Highway Patrol, said others picked up in the intensified investigation have been released. He declined to say how many others had been questioned.

Night Warden L. A. Holcomb identified the two being held as R. E. Chambliss, 59, and Charles Cagle, 22, both of the Birmingham area.

Chambliss was found innocent in 1949 on a charge of flogging while masked. He has been active in anti-integration efforts. Officers had to restrain Chambliss recently when he engaged in a near brawl with a newsmen at a segregation meeting.

Cagle has been affiliated with anti-integration activities, mostly in the area south of Birmingham. Last summer he was arrested while going to a Ku Klux Klan rally in Tuscaloosa a short time before the University of Alabama was desegregated. State officials identified him as a Klansman and said that he was carrying a weapon.

Both men had been under surveillance by city, county and federal agents. The local law enforcement agencies said that the arrests by the state came as a surprise.

Lingo said that the state was conducting its investigation apart from any other police agency.

Lingo would give no information on the men, nor on results of the questioning. He also declined to definitely link them with the blast at the Sixteenth Street Baptist Church Sept. 15 in which four young Negro girls were killed.

The two men arrived at the city jail—the same one where some 2,400 Negro demonstrators were (Continued on Page 2)

Ike 'Unclear' On Views Held By Goldwater

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says he is "unclear" about Sen. Barry Goldwater's views. The Arizona senator replies that he can't understand it, "in view of the wide publication my views have received."

Goldwater's reply was carried in today's New York Herald Tribune, which Sunday published the statement by Eisenhower.

The former president denied what he said are reports that he is "anti-Goldwater." "This is simply not true," he said.

But Eisenhower said in the copyright Herald Tribune story under his byline:

"I am unclear on precisely what Sen. Goldwater's present views are, and I think all Republicans would want to learn more about how he — and each of the other possible (presidential) candidates — would now approach the issues of 1964."

"Only when these men are on record with their current views will the party be in a position to make the most intelligent choice."

CITY EMPLOYEE RETIRES — Mark L. DeLong, who has a total of 19 years with the city of Circleville, first as a fireman and then 17 years as a water pumping station operator, will retire tomorrow.

Veteran City Water Works Employee Retires

Mark L. DeLong, an employee of the Circleville Water Department since Sept. 15, 1946, will retire tomorrow.

DeLong, who lives at 662 E. Mound St., is a station operator for the water department.

Prior to his employment at the water department, he served on the Circleville Fire Department from May 15, 1944 to May 10, 1946. He attended Salt Creek Twp. School and Adelphi High School.

Following his retirement, he will spend full time at his tailor shop on W. Main St. He and his wife have operated the establishment for six years.

"I'M LEAVING at a pretty poor time," DeLong said today. "This is really a nice place to work now. You can sit right here in the office and by watching the control panel tell exactly what is going on."

The city water department was moved into its new modern building on Island Road Aug. 2.

Although he reports the life of a station operator is not too exciting, DeLong does remember the 1959 flood and the big snow of 1950. During both occasions he was caught at the old waterworks and forced to stay for several days before getting home.

He remembers that during the flood the electricity was shut off and there was no heat. But he had an ample supply of food on both occasions.

The retiring city employee is the father of two sons, Dale and Marion. He is four times a grandfather.

Rusk - Gromyko Talk Brings Hope

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.S. diplomats believe a meeting Wednesday night between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko is the best bet among forthcoming talks for developing new accords between Washington and Moscow.

Rusk had a breakfast date with British Foreign Secretary Lord Home this morning. The two join Gromyko tonight at a dinner being given by U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant. It was described as a social affair to be attended by quite a few of the foreign leaders here for the General Assembly session.

Rusk's private appointment with Gromyko was for dinner Wednesday at the headquarters of the Soviet mission to the U.N.

U.S. sources said Rusk may express a considerable variety of U.S.-Soviet projects, ranging from a nuclear agreement to cooperating in outer space.

This week's talks, which will include a Home-Gromyko lunch Tuesday, were about all that emerged from a meeting of the three ministers Saturday.

The 2½-hour parley—first high-level East-West session since the Aug. 5 signing of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty—was described as cordial but unproductive of any agreement of substance.

Gromyko was said to have talked about general, complete disarmament philosophically without giving enough details on the Soviet proposal for an exchange of observers for the Western ministers to judge whether it would be acceptable. The observers would guard against surprise attack.

For Rusk and Home, it appeared just as well that Gromyko did not press another Soviet proposal—for a nonaggression pact between the NATO and Warsaw military blocs. The Western allies have not agreed what to do about this plan, which is linked to the Germany-Berlin issue.

Meanwhile, U.S. sources believe there is room for secondary U.S.-Soviet deals on matters of mutual interest.

JFK Appears To Be Adopting Ike's Theme

Peace, Prosperity Idea Test-Marketed During Western Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is approaching the 1964 presidential campaign with the apparent hope of borrowing a theme from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower: Peace and prosperity.

Kennedy test-marketed the peace argument during the Western tour he just completed. He obviously was pleased with the result, particularly because he grew warm responsive in the Rocky Mountain area where many voters favor the conservative policies of Sen. Barry Goldwater, Arizona Republican.

Repeatedly, Kennedy was interrupted by applause as he talked up the limited nuclear test-ban treaty, foreign aid and global involvement—all of which he credited with making brighter the prospects for peace.

Unquestionably, this choice of subjects was to determine audience reaction. But these topics also concern Kennedy more deeply than the conservation matters that were the announced focal point of his trip.

Prosperity also figured in Kennedy's speeches—usually in connection with his argument that an $11-billion tax cut is vitally needed as anti-recession insurance. If a tax cut is enacted before the election, and a recession is avoided, prosperity certainly will be one of Kennedy's major campaign claims.

Thus, the Democratic presidential candidate next year may employ substantially the same arguments that Eisenhower used successfully against Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson in 1956.

On the second of five days of speechmaking, Kennedy began to swing away from conservation and emphasize his contentions that, by shouldering international burdens, the United States is repulsing "the Communist offensive."

This argument was voiced in Montana, at Billings and Great Falls, before Kennedy made it the theme of the trip's major address—an appearance in Salt Lake City's Mormon Tabernacle.

In Salt Lake City, Kennedy twice was interrupted by applause as he saluted the limited nuclear test-ban treaty which Goldwater has opposed. Cheers again halted Kennedy when he defended foreign aid.

The trip was just plodding along until Kennedy hit upon the peace question in Montana. Starting there, he seemed much more enthusiastic. He spent increasing amounts of time shaking hands with those who greeted him at airports, auditoriums and stadiums.

If the trip was a dry run for the 1964 campaign as seems apparent, Kennedy undoubtedly views it as a success.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, says he is opposed to a House-passed tax reduction bill.

"I can't bring myself to this modern concept of management," Lausche said Sunday. "Our national debt is now $45 billion above the amount at the end of World War II."

Although the investigation into the bombings—there have been at least 40—had been intensified since the church explosion, these were the first arrests. A tip-off that they were coming came Sunday night in Montgomery from the office of Gov. George C. Wallace.

The governor's office said in a statement that arrests were imminent in the church bombing at which the Negro girls were killed.

Later, a statement from the governor's office said only that two persons were taken into custody in connection with the Birmingham bombings. It did not specify the church blast.

Lingo said the men were being questioned and would be transferred to Jefferson (Birmingham) County Jail. He would not definitely link them with the church explosion, and said no formal charges had been filed.

The city has had more than 40 bombings since World War II, but the one which nearly destroyed the Sixteenth Street Baptist Church was the worst.

About 20 persons were injured in the blast, which inflicted more than $44,000 in damage to the church and damaged nearby cars and buildings.

The church bombing almost sparked a riot. Sporadic outbreaks of violence continued through the day and night. Two young Negroes were shot to death—one by police officers and the other when he was riding a bicycle. Two white youths are free on $10,000 bonds in the death of the second Negro.

President Kennedy dispatched former Army Secretary Kenneth Royall and former Army football coach Earl Blaik to Birmingham to help soothe the troubled racial waters. The emissaries conferred with leaders of both races last week and planned to return for further talks today.

Mark L. DeLong, an employee of the Circleville Water Department since Sept. 15, 1946, will retire tomorrow.

DeLong, who lives at 662 E. Mound St., is a station operator for the water department.

Prior to his employment at the water department, he served on the Circleville Fire Department from May 15, 1944 to May 10, 1946. He attended Salt Creek Twp. School and Adelphi High School.

Following his retirement, he will spend full time at his tailor shop on W. Main St. He and his wife have operated the establishment for six years.

“I'M LEAVING at a pretty poor time,” DeLong said today. “This is really a nice place to work now. You can sit right here in the office and by watching the control panel tell exactly what is going on.”

The city water department was moved into its new modern building on Island Road Aug. 2.

Although he reports the life of a station operator is not too exciting, DeLong does remember the 1959 flood and the big snow of 1950. During both occasions he was caught at the old waterworks and forced to stay for several days before getting home.

He remembers that during the flood the electricity was shut off and there was no heat. But he had an ample supply of food on both occasions.

The retiring city employee is the father of two sons, Dale and Marion. He is four times a grandfather.

Rusk - Gromyko Talk Brings Hope

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.S. diplomats believe a meeting Wednesday night between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko is the best bet among forthcoming talks for developing new accords between Washington and Moscow.

Rusk had a breakfast date with British Foreign Secretary Lord Home this morning. The two join Gromyko tonight at a dinner being given by U.N. Secretary-General U Thant. It was described as a social affair to be attended by quite a few of the foreign leaders here for the General Assembly session.

Rusk's private appointment with Gromyko was for dinner Wednesday at the headquarters of the Soviet mission to the U.N.

U.S. sources said Rusk may explore a considerable variety of U.S.-Soviet projects, ranging from a nuclear agreement to cooperating in outer space.

This week's talks, which will include a Home-Gromyko lunch Tuesday, were about all that emerged from a meeting of the three ministers Saturday.

The 2½-hour parley—first high-level East-West session since the Aug. 5 signing of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty — was described as cordial but unproductive of any agreement of substance.

Gromyko was said to have talked about general, complete disarmament philosophically without giving enough details on the Soviet proposal for an exchange of observers for the Western ministers to judge whether it would be acceptable. The observers would guard against surprise attack.

For Rusk and Home, it appeared just as well that Gromyko did not press another Soviet proposal—for a nonaggression pact between the NATO and Warsaw military blocs. The Western allies have not agreed what to do about this plan, which is linked to the Germany-Berlin issue.

Meanwhile, U.S. sources believe there is room for secondary U.S.-Soviet deals on matters of mutual interest.

JFK Appears To Be Adopting Ike's Theme

Peace, Prosperity Idea Test-Marketed During Western Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is approaching the 1964 presidential campaign with the apparent hope of borrowing a theme from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower: Peace and prosperity.

Kennedy test-marketed the peace argument during the Western tour he just completed. He obviously was pleased with the result, particularly because he drew warm response in the Rock Mountain area where many voters favor the conservative policies of Sen. Barry Goldwater, Arizona Republican.

Repeatedly, Kennedy was rewarded by applause as he talked up the limited nuclear test-ban treaty, foreign aid and global involvement — all of which he credited with making brighter the prospects for peace.

Unquestionably, this choice of subjects was to determine audience reaction. But these topics also concern Kennedy more deeply than the conservation matters that were the announced focal point of his trip.

Prosperity also figured in Kennedy's speeches — usually in connection with his argument that an $11-billion tax cut is vitally needed as anti-recession insurance. If a tax cut is enacted before the election, and a recession is avoided, prosperity certainly will be one of Kennedy's major campaign claims.

Thus, the Democratic presidential candidate next year may employ substantially the same arguments that Eisenhower used successfully against Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson in 1956.

On the second of five days of speechmaking, Kennedy began to swing away from conservation and emphasize his contentions that, by shouldering international burdens, the United States is repulsing “the Communist offensive.”

This argument was voiced in Montana, at Billings and Great Falls, before Kennedy made it the theme of the trip's major address — an appearance in Salt Lake City's Mormon Tabernacle.

In Salt Lake City, Kennedy twice was interrupted by applause as he saluted the limited nuclear test-ban treaty which Goldwater has opposed. Cheers again hailed Kennedy when he defended foreign aid.

The trip was just plodding along until Kennedy hit upon the peace question in Montana. Starting there, he seemed much more enthusiastic. He spent increasing amounts of time shaking hands with those who greeted him at airports, auditoriums and stadiums.

If the trip was a dry run for the 1964 campaign, as seems apparent, Kennedy undoubtedly views it as a success.

Lausche Takes Stand Against Tax Cut Bill

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, says he is opposed to a House-passed tax reduction bill.

held last spring—in a highway patrol car with two troopers. Dressed in sport shirts and slacks, they covered their faces as they were led into the jail.

Although the investigation into the bombings—there have been at least 40 — had been intensified since the church explosion, these were the first arrests. A tip-off that they were coming came Sunday night in Montgomery from the office of Gov. George C. Wallace.

The governor's office said in a statement that arrests were imminent in the church bombing, which the Negro girls were killed.

Later, a statement from the governor's office said only that two persons were taken into custody in connection with the Birmingham bombings. It did not specify the church blast.

Lingo said the men were being questioned and would be transferred to Jefferson (Birmingham) County Jail. He would not definitely link them with the church explosion, and said no formal charges had been filed.

The city has had more than 40 bombings since World War II, but the one which nearly destroyed the Sixteenth Street Baptist Church was the worst.

About 20 persons were injured in the blast, which inflicted more than $44,000 in damage to the church and damaged nearby cars and buildings.

The church bombing almost sparked a riot. Sporadic outbursts of violence continued through the day and night. Two young Negroes were shot to death—one by police officers and the other when he was riding a bicycle. Two white youths are free on $10,000 bonds in the death of the second Negro.

President Kennedy dispatched former Army secretary Kenneth Royal and former Army football coach Earl Black to Birmingham to help soothe the troubled racial waters. The emissaries conferred with leaders of both races last week and planned to return for further talks today.

Pulp Waste Disposal Process Developed by Container Corp.

A new process for the disposal of waste materials from pulp and paper mills using the neutral sulfite semi-chemical process has been developed by Container Corporation of America.

A unit utilizing this process is currently under construction at CCA's Circleville plant. It is designed to eliminate waste liquor disposal problems here.

The process has been in operation the past year at Container's board mill in Carthage, Ind. According to F. S. Chrysler, CCA executive vice president, the new technique has effectively solved stream pollution problems there.

The process, invented by G. C. Copeland, Container's chief engineer for pulping developments, has the advantages of low capital investment and simple, economic operation. A patent application has been filed on the new development, Chrysler said, and the process will be made available to the industry on a license basis.

"The wastes generated by hardwood pulping processes have created stream pollution problems in many areas", Copeland said, "and disposal and recovery techniques have not previously been economically practicable."

The process makes use of a fluidized bed technique roughly similar to that used in catalytic cracking of crude oil. This destroys the organic portion of the waste material called, in some areas, "black liquor", eliminating the stream pollution problem from this source.

ganic portion of the waste material called, in some areas, "black liquor", eliminating the stream pollution problem from this source.

In a paper presented to the Alkaline Pulping Conference of the Technical Assn. of the Pulp and Paper Industries, Copeland explained the new system, which is simple to operate and requires no additional fuel. The size of the system can be adjusted to all pulp mill capacities, Copeland said, and requires only half the evaporation of the waste liquor normally required before process treatment for combustion.

Although designed for disposal of wastes generated in neutral sulfite semi-chemical pulping processes, the new technique is termed applicable to other pulp mill processes. The end product of the new system is a pelletized residue, consisting of salt cake and soda ash, which is currently being discarded.

"Even though the end product is not now being used, the process is considered highly successful in solving stream pollution problems", Copeland said. Since recovery of chemicals from the waste has interesting economic potential, tests are being conducted to determine the feasibility of using the pelletized residue as a chemical supplement in kraft mills.

The company also has been working closely with Battelle Memorial Institute to perfect a process to convert the material for reuse in the neutral sulfite process.

"Clean electric heat saves many dollars in refurbishing costs, such as painting, wallpaper cleaning and washing. We installed electric heat in 1954, and have always liked its safety and the fact that our home is always warm—automatically." Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith, Canal Winchester, Ohio.

"Electric heating is clean beyond imagination, and so comfortable, too. By what other method can you get 75° comfort at such reasonable cost?" Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mills, Route 1, Lancaster, Ohio.

If you are planning to build or modernize, investigate clean, safe, flameless electric heating. Electric heat puts family comfort first. And it probably costs less than you think. Call South-Central Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., for further information and guidance.

"With electric heat there's very little difference in cost, but a lot of difference in the comfort provided. We like the even pleasant temperatures, and the safe and silent operation. We heat our three-bedroom home electrically for less than $225 a year." Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foltz, Route 1, Box 176-C, Pickerington, Ohio.

"Electric home heating gives maximum comfort at minimum cost. Convenience and safety are a bonus not provided by other fuels. We love it!" Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Smoke, Route 1, Millersport, Ohio.

"To us, the most wonderful thing about flameless electric heating is its complete and automatic control. Cleanliness, comfort, and reasonable cost are an unbeatable combination. With a thermostat in each room, you control the heat as easily as you control the lights." Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Blackstone, Route 1, Carroll, Ohio.

Compromise to What Extent?

For one reason or another, people are suddenly making the discovery that Barry Goldwater is a reasonable man, willing to "move toward the center." Walter Lippmann, for example, has found, to his own considerable astonishment, that Goldwater, if elected to the Presidency, would not attempt to abolish the income tax overnight or drop an atomic bomb on Castro without warning.

This discovery that Goldwater is not a lunatic pleases me. But the terms in which it is couched

Only 603 persons paid to see a Tiger-Chicago White Sox baseball game in Detroit's 53,089-seat stadium. The athletes must have played the entire game under the impression they were engaged in secret practice.

The mystery of who stole that spiral staircase from the Theater Royal in Exeter, England, probably has the cops going around in circles.

A retired British brewery worker has just been awarded a pass which entitles him to free beer in some 2,000 pubs. But can his elbow stand the strain?

Meanwhile, Munich, Germany, has already launched its annual two-week Oktoberfest, greatest beer binge of all. They must believe in getting a big head start toward a big head.

It's predicted that this Oktoberfest will set a new record of five million pints consumed. Good grief! — that is a staggering amount.

A Kansas educator suggests students could learn two subjects at once by studying algebra in the French language. That figures!

On reading that the former owner of the late, great Oliver (Old Ironsides) Cromwell's battle helmet (which recently sold for $42,000) had been using it for a flower pot, causes us to wonder what kind of flowers — golden glow?

We know the answer already to that proposed survey to determine the average U. S. family's attitude toward money: "Fine — but not near enough!"

The "Constitution" earned her nickname "Old Ironsides" in the War of 1812 when solid shots bounced off her oaken sides in a battle with the "Guerrriere."

are a bit worrisome, for all that. The important thing is not that Barry Goldwater is willing to "move toward the center"; it is, rather, that he is dedicated to using only the fairest and the most decent methods in the whole political arsenal to move the "center" toward his own philosophy as a limit.

Like all good politicians who are truly in the American grain, Goldwater is a pragmatist. He judges a thing — or a policy — by its workings. But, unlike some pragmatists, he is aware that there is a catch to the famous statement that "a thing is true if it works." The catch about this test of truth is that nobody can know what is working if he doesn't know what it is working toward. The pragmatist must have a goal, a philosophy, in order to judge the usefulness of a thing or policy. You don't hitch a machine to empty air.

Lippmann's fascinated — and approving — discovery that Goldwater is a pragmatist, a compromiser, then, must not be left to stand by itself. What is interesting about Goldwater is that he has ends, but is quite content to push them within the context of the American political system, which is one of compromise. If the majority goes against him, he is willing to accept the circumstance for the time being. But before acknowledging the verdict, he does everything that he can to inch the "center" over a bit toward the goal he has in mind.

Goldwater's willingness to defer temporarily to a broad consensus would make him a "safe" President. But the quality of his deference would nonetheless change the atmosphere of American life. In domestic politics, it would result in the presentation of all manner of ingenious compromises designed, not to repeal the Welfare State, but to take the hard-and-fast compulsions of the New Deal period out of it.

For example, a Goldwater in the White House would know that he could not get rid of Social Security. But he would almost certainly send a bill up to Congress advocating that every employed person be accorded a choice between government or private old-age insurance. The choice could be easily administered merely by letting a person indicate his preference on his income tax statement and by clipping a duplicate of a private insurance receipt to the statement the following year. The citizen could be compelled by law to keep his old-age insurance at a certain level.

A Goldwater in the White House would be forced by a prevailing consensus to take the responsibility for keeping the U. S. economy from going into a tailspin. But such responsibility by no means commits a President to a policy of big deficit spending. Instead of using taxation and inflation to keep the Gross National Product at high paper levels, a Goldwater might limit government support of the economy to the maintenance of a comprehensive system of unemployment insurance. Dr. Arthur Burns, who has one of Eisenhower's economic advisers, was urging this at the time Nixon and Kennedy were fighting it out for President in 1960. But it came to nothing because Kennedy chose to advocate a floor for "depressed areas" instead of for unemployed individuals.

The Goldwater pragmatism would be exercised toward the end of maximizing the amount of voluntarism, of free choice, in society without letting people starve. It would permit a remission of tax money to families that choose private or parochial schools instead of public schools for their children. It would work toward a flat income tax instead of a progressive tax — but would lighten the tax burden to people of small incomes by getting a whole host of expenditures off the public cuff.

Thus a Goldwater would try to inch the center over to the so-called Right. But we would still have a Welfare State underscired by a politician with a heart. A Kennedy, running against a Goldwater, might still win by stealing Goldwater's clothes. Which would be okay with me.

NEW YORK (AP)—The long-awaited and much-discussed "Judy Garland Show" arrived on CBS Sunday night and proved an entertaining, if extremely uneven, variety hour.

The entertainment was largely due to the debut of the star in weekly television. She seemed nervous, but in a merry mood. The problem areas were concentrated in what the producer designated as informal ad lib conversation. She was never nervous when singing but making television small talk is a real specialty and Miss Garland isn't Jack Paar — yet.

Generally, the show was gay, good-humored and had lots of tuneful singing and dancing. Guest star Donald O'Connor provided some first-rate support. Jerry Van Dyke helped out with the comedy, including an amusing but too-long monologue.

But the show was Miss Garland, slim and svelte. Even with the rough spots it was fascinating to watch. Earlier in the evening a perfectly delightful little comedy series had its CBS debut. Called "My Favorite Martian," it is a sly and witty fairy story about a Martian scientist, studying this primitive planet, crash-lands his space ship in Southern California.

It would be pleasant to report that Phil Silvers lighted up the living room screen with his new CBS series as he did in the good old "Bilko" days. Truth to tell, Silvers' new version of the fast-talking lovable con man lacks something. Phil plays a brash smart-alec factory foreman and somehow it's not the same at all.

Friday night's "Great Adventure" series also had a CBS premiere. It was a rather plodding, labored story about a real, historic incident when a Confederate submarine — a primitive craft — sank a Yankee sailing ship. All the crew lost their lives in the exploit. Most of the drama focused on the problems the captain had in getting a chance at the enemy and concentrated on scenes of men suffering in the sub's airless innards. It was rather thick going for the viewers, too.

"Hollywood and the Stars," a new half-hour NBC series (9:30-10 p.m. EDT), will document the careers of Hollywood's great ones, and start off tonight with a show about the late Humphrey Bogart.

In addition, the stars of CBS' Monday night comedy lineup, Lucille Ball, Danny Thomas and Andy Griffith, start their new shows of the season.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

More middle class wives are now holding jobs outside the home. In more than half the families with income from $7,000 to $15,000 yearly, the wife works at least part of the year.

NEW YORK (AP) — Dollar claims by other nations exceed U.S. gold and currency reserves. Worse, these claims are growing despite the efforts of this nation, the world's strongest economically and financially, to get its books closer to balance. And this year a major run on its gold stocks is being averted to considerable extent by the good will and sympathy (and self interest) of its friends.

This fiscal unbalance could go deeper than just hurt pride. It could lead to a hurt dollar. If unchecked, it could end up in a blow to all the western world's structure of finance and trade.

How did the United States get into this fix?

In its simplest terms the problem now being thrashed out in government and banking circles here and abroad is this:

For several years, especially since 1957, the United States has been sending abroad more dollars than it has been getting back. The steadily mounting piles of foreign-held dollars, or credits easily turned into dollars, now adds up to more than $20 billion. By U. S. law other governments or their central banks can turn in their dollars to the U.S. Treasury for gold at $35 an ounce. And off and on they've been doing just that.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The discriminating judgment of a doctor in the choice of a drug is one of his most important contributions to the health of his patient. The use of some drugs, especially the new antibiotics, have unfortunately become the patient's choice as well as that of the doctor.

When the antibiotics were first introduced, their "supernatural" powers were exalted and they were given the name "wonder drugs." Many patients who formerly relied on the expert decisions of their doctors soon began to demand this or that antibiotic for medical conditions that may not have required it. With no knowledge of the potential problems caused by promiscuous use of the antibiotics, these patients continued to put pressure on their doctors. They insisted on an antibiotic at the first sign of a sniffle.

Before long, insignificant amounts of antibiotics were included in almost every "over-the-counter" or prescription medication for the cure of the common cold. As one scientist stated, "The capsule did not contain enough antibiotic to improve the health of a canary, but did contain enough to induce antibiotic reactions in adults."

A panel of scientists of the National Academy of Science recently completed a study for the Food and Drug Administration. They found that the antibiotics have absolutely no effect on the common cold. These findings induced the Food and Drug Administration to propose a ban on "shotgun combinations" of antibiotics, antihistamine, decongestants, caffeine and analgesics (pain relievers).

The F. D. A. findings were incorporated in the following statement:

1. There is no acceptable evidence that any antibiotic or other antimicrobial agent is of any value in the treatment of the common cold or any other upper respiratory viral infection.

2. Antibiotics and other antimicrobial agents are of no value in preventing bacterial complications in patients with common colds who are otherwise healthy, and therefore should not be used.

3. Antibiotics may have some value in patients with underlying chronic pulmonary disease. But when preventive treatment of respiratory infection is justified, the antimicrobial agents must be relatively free of inherent toxicity.

4. The antibiotic in a drug which include analgesics, antihistamines and possibly decongestants must have no effect on the cold itself and there is insufficient chemical evidence to show that it would be of value in the prevention of possible complicating infections caused by a cold.

5. The relief that may be provided by the other ingredients (other than the antibiotic) is no justification for any such product to contain an antimicrobial agent.

The antibiotics represent one of science's greatest contributions to the health of man. When used judiciously, for conditions that known to respond to them, antibiotics are invaluable and often life-saving.

Doctors discourage the promiscuous use of these or any other ment should be relied on as to the choice of a drug and the duration of its use.

The treasury now has only $15.5 billion of gold (Down from $24 billion some years back). And $12 billion of this hoard is earmarked as a reserve backing U.S. paper money.

That is Uncle Sam's gold embarrassment.

His trouble arises from a deficit between outgoing and incoming dollars, called the deficit in the balance of payments. Here is how the deficit has run since 1957: $3.5 billion in 1958, $3.7 billion in 1959; $3.9 billion in 1960; $2.4 billion in 1961; $2.2 billion in 1962.

And this year the deficit has been increasing. In the first three months we ran $800 million behind; in the next three months $1.3 billion short. This made the first half of 1963 about as bad as all of 1962.

But all along the United States has been exporting more goods than it has been importing. This is called the balance of trade.

What has really counted has been that balance of payments deficit — the amount each year by which all the outgoing dollars have smothered the favorable balance of trade.

As some of these accumulated surplus dollars abroad have been turned in for gold, the treasury's hoard has shrunk in this fashion: Down $2.2 billion in 1958; $1 billion in 1959; $1.7 billion in 1960; $878 million in 1961 and $9 million in 1962. So far this year the gold loss has been $395 million.

Disquieting as the gold drain has been, what's worrying Washington and many bankers here and abroad is the buildup of dollars and dollar claims abroad.

BUICK SPOTLIGHTS ENGINES, TRANSMISSIONS IN '64 LINE

Flint. — Buick talked about engines and transmissions last week at its '64 model press preview at Warwick Hills Country Club here.

EDWARD D. ROLLERT, general manager of Buick and Vice President of General Motors, called the two new transmissions "THE GREATEST ADVANCE EVER MADE IN THE FIELD OF AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION."

Under its new engine-transmission set up, Buick will offer a lower-priced LeSabre series.

Buick also showed a larger, roomier Special on a 115-inch wheelbase, a 3 inch increase over '63. At 203 inches, the car is nearly 11 inches longer than last year, and body-frame construction is used instead of the unitized body.

With 26 models, six engines, including V-6 and V-8, four transmissions, including the two new automatic Super Turbine 300 and 400, Buick will have a car that 90% of the new car buyers can buy.

Buick's new automatic transmissions are called Super Turbine 300 and Super Turbine 400. Rollert said they are an evolution of the original torque-converter transmission, Dynaflo, which Buick introduced in 1948. HERE IS ONE THAT YOU WILL HEAR A LOT ABOUT IN 1964.

"Our new transmissions are the most important single development in the long history of the torque-converter," Rollert declared.

He said the new units deliver up to 43% more wheel thrust, which means more-responsive acceleration. He claimed they are more economical and said that test with the LeSabre showed gasoline savings as high as 20 percent.

Other advantages, Rollert said, they are lighter weight and have fewer working parts.

Rollert predicted another excellent year for Buick and noted that the division's sales have risen from $254,000 in the '60 model year to $458,000 in the '63 model season, a gain of 81 percent.

Buick used-car values are up. Rollert said a two-year old Buick currently brings $220 more on the used-car market than a two-year old Buick did in 1961.

You will get the complete story on the 1964 Buick at your Buick Dealer on October 4th.

Compromise to What Extent?

By John Chamberlain

For one reason or another, people are suddenly making the discovery that Barry Goldwater is a reasonable man, willing to "move toward the center." Walter Lippmann, for example, has found, to his own considerable astonishment, that Goldwater, if elected to the Presidency, would not attempt to abolish the income tax overnight or drop an atomic bomb on Castro without warning.

This discovery that Goldwater is not a lunatic pleases me. But the terms in which it is couched are a bit worrisome, for all that. The important thing is not that Barry Goldwater is willing to move toward the center; it is, rather, that he is dedicated to using only the fairest and the most decent methods in the whole political arsenal to move the "center" toward his own philosophy as a limit.

Like all good politicians who are truly in the American grain, Goldwater is a pragmatist. He judges a thing — or a policy — by its workings. But, unlike some pragmatists, he is aware that there is a catch to the famous statement that "a thing is true if it works." The catch about this test of truth is that nobody can know what is working if he doesn't know what it is working toward. The pragmatist must have a goal, a philosophy, in order to judge the usefulness of a thing or policy. You don't hitch a machine to empty air.

But before acknowledging the verdict, he does everything that he can to inch the "center" over a bit toward the Goldwater's willingness to defer temporarily to a broad consensus would make him a "safe" President. But the quality of his deference would nonetheless change the atmosphere of American life. In domestic politics, it would result in the presentation of all manner of ingenious compromises designed, not to repeal the Welfare State, but to take the hard-and-fast compulsions of the New Deal period out of it.

For example, a Goldwater in the White House would know that he could not get rid of Social Security. But he would almost certainly send a bill up to Congress advocating that every employed person be accorded a choice between government or private old-age insurance. The choice could be easily administered merely by letting a person indicate his preference on his income tax statement and by clipping a duplicate of a private insurance receipt to the statement the following year. The citizen could be compelled by law to keep his old-age insurance at a certain level.

A Goldwater in the White House would be forced by a prevailing consensus to take the responsibility for keeping the U. S. economy from going into a tailspin. But such responsibility by no means commits a President to a policy of big deficit spending. Instead of

The World Today

By J. W. DAVIS
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the more entertaining fictions in the legends of Washington is that a president can take a non-political speaking tour across the country.

For the president is not only president, he's the chief of his political party. And, likely as not, he intends to run again. It follows that almost anything he does or says is looked upon as political.

This didn't start with President Kennedy's 10-state Western trip. Just think of his immediate predecessors — Dwight D. Eisenhower, Harry S. Truman, Franklin D. Roosevelt — they all indulged in the non-political trip with political aspects.

When Kennedy's itinerary was announced, it could hardly be overlooked that eight of the states he was visiting were for Republican Richard M. Nixon in 1960.

Nor could it be overlooked that conservative strength is perhaps growing in these states, and their electoral support could be crucial in the 1964 election.

The Kennedy trip was billed as one devoted to conservation, rather than politics.

Last Tuesday, Gov. George Romney of Michigan accused Kennedy of playing politics in a meeting of representatives of Great Lakes states at Duluth, Minn.

It was a meeting called to consider conservation and economic developments. But, Republican Romney complained, the man he sent there wasn't even allowed on the platform. Instead, he said,

Michigan was represented by a Democrat.

For another example, Kennedy spoke warmly in Wyoming of Sen. Gale Magee, Democrat who faces a fight next year. He had similar praise in Montana for Sen. Mike Mansfield.

In Salt Lake City, a Kennedy attack on certain foreign policy ideas was widely interpreted as an attack on the views of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, a possibility for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

Kennedy's non-political trip called to mind a similar one taken by President Eisenhower in October 1960. Eisenhower wasn't running himself, but he wanted Nixon to succeed him.

Eisenhower was greeted in California by the Democratic governor, Edmund G. Brown, who told him: "Don't do too much for Mr. Nixon."

Smilingly, Eisenhower replied: "This is a non-political tour, but I'll do all I can to see that Nixon is elected."

Another president who got fun out of such a situation was Harry Truman. In June 1948 he set out on what the White House described as a "nonpolitical, bipartisan trip."

That tag didn't last long. Truman told a crowd in Ohio, before the journey was hardly under way: "On this nonpartisan, bipartisan trip that we are aking here I understand there are a whole lot of Democrats present."

Ordinarily, the opposition doesn't get too exercised when a president chooses to call a trip nonpolitical. There was a sharp exception to this in 1944 when Roosevelt ran for a fourth term, against Republican Thomas E. Dewey.

Roosevelt announced he would not run "in the usual partisan, political sense."

Then he set out on a series of "inspection visits" all the way across the country, making appearances before thousands at military installations and defense plants — as commander in chief.

AAUW Members Discuss School Bond Issue

Mrs. William Huber, 127 W. Mound St., was hostess when the Circleville Branch of the American Association of University Women met to hear comments on the proposed school bond issue here.

Each member brought a dessert which was served buffet style. Fritz Jacobs, R. L. Brehmer Jr. and Virgil Cress, presented the program using the topic, "Building for the Future". They discussed the school bond issue and answered questions.

Mr. Cress stressed that improvements will be needed soon to relieve crowded school conditions. He said the high school was built for a capacity of 700 students and by 1964 will house about 1200. Franklin and Walnut St. Schools were built in 1894 and need to be replaced. He added that the curriculum of the junior high and high school is suffering due to overcrowded conditions.

The school board's solution to the problem was outlined. Mr. Jacobs stated that if the bond issue fails Circleville will no longer be able to meet state requirements and will be dropped by the North Central Association.

He concluded by saying that if our children are not keeping pace with the rest of the nation the community as well as the children will suffer.

Mrs. Walter Sale, Mrs. Harold Clifton, Mrs. Earl Smith and Miss Ruth Montelius were co-hostesses.

Cathy McKinley Feted with Birthday Party

Miss Cathy Lynn McKinley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McKinley, 147 Fairview Ave., was honored with a party on her seventh birthday.

Dear Abby: You're Kidding, Lady!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When I married "M" nine years ago, his mother stood right there at the wedding and cried as though a judge had just sentenced her son to hang. I should have known then that she would never "love me like a daughter", although she used that phrase often enough. Fortunately my husband's boss transferred us out of town soon after we were married. His mother came to visit us, but up until this year we never went to visit her. When we did, she put our two young sons in a large double bed, while my husband and I were given two Army cots placed at a 90-degree angle in a room with no door! Any advice?

"LIKE A DAUGHTER" DEAR LIKE: Yes, don't go mountain-climbing with her.

DEAR ABBY: When a man offers a lady a cigarette, what is the proper procedure for lighting it? Does the man light his cigarette first and then offer the lady a light? Or does he light her first? I have seen so many men light their own cigarettes first and have wondered why "Ladies

First" does not apply here. Some one said a man should light his own cigarette first so that the lady doesn't get the first fumes of the match. Is that so?

CURIOUS DEAR CURIOUS: "Ladies First" applies here as it does in other instances. I would let the match burn off the "first fumes," then light the lady's cigarette first! Besides, if it's cancer she wants, what's the hurry?

DEAR ABBY: Please print this and make a lot of guys happy: "Dear Lost Some Blood."

"I wish you ex-Marines would quit trying to collect glory for doing what a lot of men in the other branches of the service did and took in their stride. Come on, now the war has been over for 18 years. We all had a rough time. Forget it. The rest of us did."

"PACIFIC VETERAN"

DEAR ABBY: I want to let you know that I don't think you are an old fogey for not approving of affection-showing in public. I am 15 and am going to have a baby in March. I wish my mother had been more strict with me in public and maybe I wouldn't have done so much in private.

AAUW Members Discuss School Bond Issue

Mrs. William Huber, 127 W. Mound St., was hostess when the Circleville Branch of the American Association of University Women met to hear comments on the proposed school bond issue here.

Each member brought a dessert which was served buffet style. Fritz Jacobs, R. L. Brehmer Jr. and Virgil Cress, presented the program using the topic, "Building for the Future". They discussed the school bond issue and answered questions.

Mr. Cress stressed that improvements will be needed soon to relieve crowded school conditions. He said the high school was built for a capacity of 700 students and by 1964 will house about 1200. Franklin and Walnut St. Schools were built in 1894 and need to be replaced. He added that the curriculum of the junior high and high school is suffering due to overcrowded conditions.

The school board's solution to the problem was outlined. Mr. Jacobs stated that if the bond issue fails Circleville will no longer be able to meet state requirements and will be dropped by the North Central Association.

He concluded by saying that if our children are not keeping pace with the rest of the nation the community as well as the children will suffer.

Mrs. Walter Sale, Mrs. Harold Clifton, Mrs. Earl Smith and Miss Ruth Montelius were co-hostesses.

Cathy McKinley Feted with Birthday Party

Miss Cathy Lynn McKinley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McKinley, 147 Fairview Ave., was honored with a party on her seventh birthday.

She wore elbow length lace mitts and a lace and sequin pillow held her shoulder length veil of French illusion. She carried a white Bible topped with a lace handkerchief corsage, carnations and cascading knotted white ribbons. Her pearl necklace was a gift from the bridegroom.

Dear Abby: You're Kidding, Lady!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When I married "M" nine years ago, his mother stood right there at the wedding and cried as though a judge had just sentenced her son to hang. I should have known then that she would never "love me like a daughter", although she used that phrase often enough. Fortunately my husband's boss transferred us out of town soon after we were married. His mother came to visit us, but up until this year we never went to visit her. When we did, she put our two young sons in a large double bed, while my husband and I were given two Army cots placed at a 90-degree angle in a room with no door! Any advice?

"LIKE A DAUGHTER"

DEAR LIKE: Yes, don't go mountain-climbing with her.

DEAR ABBY: When a man offers a lady a cigarette, what is the proper procedure for lighting it? Does the man light his cigarette first and then offer the lady a light? Or does he light hers first? I have seen so many men light their own cigarettes first and have wondered why "Ladies

First" does not apply here. Some one said a man should light his own cigarette first so that the lady doesn't get the first fumes of the match. Is that so?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: "Ladies First" applies here as it does in other instances. I would let the match burn off the "first fumes," then light the lady's cigarette first! Besides, if it's cancer she wants, what's the hurry?

DEAR ABBY: Please print this and make a lot of guys happy: "Dear Lost Some Blood:

"I wish you ex-Marines would quit trying to collect glory for doing what a lot of men in the other branches of the service did and took in their stride. Come on, now the war has been over for 18 years. We all had a rough time. Forget it. The rest of us did."

"PACIFIC VETERAN"

DEAR ABBY: I want to let you know that I don't think you are an old foggy for not approving of affection-showing in public. I am 15 and am going to have a baby in March. I wish my mother had been more strict with me in public and maybe I wouldn't have done so much in private.

State Rural Housing Program Expands through FHA Loans

Ohio's rural housing program took another major step forward during fiscal 1963 when the Farmers Home Administration made 146 housing loans valued at $1,500,000, reports Wade E. Jeffers, local county supervisor.

Six of these loans valued at $57,900 were made in Pickaway, Madison and Franklin counties served by Jeffers.

This represents 40 more loans than were made the previous fiscal year and an increase of $500,000 in funds obligated. "Farmers Home Administration's rural housing program is truly proving to be an important factor in stimulating the renewal of rural areas throughout the state," Jeffers said. "Not only do the more than 700 families who have received loans benefit by having the means for better housing, but the impact of an active housing construction program extends throughout local areas."

There was an increase this fiscal year in the number and amount of loans to rural residents on non-farm tracts over those living on farms. The increase reflected the broadening of the program by the Housing Act of 1961. Of the total amount advanced $1,250,000 was borrowed by 95 rural residents.

Rural housing loan repayments continued at a high level. Borrowers as of Dec. 31, had paid 106 percent of the amount due.

By Dec. 31, of the 721 families who had received rural housing loans since the program began in 1949 approximately 206 of 28.5 percent had satisfied their accounts in full.

There have been practically no foreclosures or voluntary conveyances in Ohio, Jeffers said.

FHA's senior citizens housing loan program was started during the past fiscal year when three loans were made to rural residents 62 years or older to construct three new dwellings averaging $9,000 in value.

Funds loaned during fiscal 1963 made possible the construction of 108 new dwellings compared to 86 dwellings during the previous year. Living conditions of 25 farm and rural residents were improved through repair and remodeling loans. This compares with improvements to 30 dwellings in fiscal 1962.

The number of barns, machine sheds and other farm service buildings constructed or repaired declined in number from 75 in fiscal 1962 to 40 the past fiscal year.

Business World Stirred by Tax Cut Hopes

NEW YORK (AP)—Hopes of a federal tax cut stirred the business world last week.

An $11 billion, two-year tax cut was passed by the House on Wednesday. But it faced an uncertain fate in the Senate.

Opinion divided on whether a cut would markedly stimulate the economy, as contended by President Kennedy, or spur inflationary tendencies, as some opponents argued.

In either case, it would be a major force to be reckoned with, unless the Senate turned thumbs down.

Renewed action on the tax front overshadowed another far-reaching event, the economically and politically intriguing revival of the possibility of expanded U. S. trade with Soviet Bloc countries.

This was triggered by Canadian sale of $500 million worth of wheat to Russia last week. The news sent U. S. grainmen into talks with Soviet emissaries looking toward sale of American wheat.

The Kennedy administration began cautious exploration of the situation, which held out hope of help with crop surplus and tricky balance of payment problems but raised prickly political considerations.

8-Day Bridegroom Dies After 150-Foot Plunge

BELLAIRE, Ohio (AP)—A 32-year-old painter married only eight days plunged 150 feet to his death Sunday in a leap from a bridge into the Ohio River. Don Fleming of Bellaire was retrieved from the river almost immediately but died a few minutes after arriving at Bellaire Hospital.

It was unofficially reported the Russians were in the market for as many as 200 million bushels of American wheat.

If a deal was brought off might provide a precedent for expansion of Soviet-American trade into other areas of commerce. General indicators of business and the economy's health turned up during the week were nearly all for the good.

Steel production registered its fifth consecutive weekly rise, taking its biggest jump upward since March, and aluminum men, taking advantage of near capacity operations, nudged ingot prices upward one half cent to 23 cents a pound.

The stock market bobbed to another all-time high by some indexes amid battling among bulls and bears that kept prices churning.

The cost-of-living yardstick for August was reassuring. It held steady after fairly sharp rises in June and July — although at a level 1½ per cent above a year earlier.

New car sales slumped nearly a per cent in the middle 19 days of September but automakers shrugged off the dip. They blamed it on a scarcity of 1964 models in dealers' hands, a normal temporary accompaniment of the model changeover period. Chrysler, out early with its new line, reported sharply increased sales over mid-September of 1962.

In random developments a special board to arbitrate certain aspects of railroad union-management featherbedding dispute buckled down to the job, the international "chicken war" entered a new phase and the New York Stock Exchange order new curbs aimed at toning down sales pitches by some elements in the stock brokerage community.

U. S. trade negotiators rejected a common market offer for a token reduction in newly raised poultry tariffs and moved ahead with plans for retaliatory tariff boosts on a variety of U. S. imports.

In Washington, debate flared again on the much discussed $8 billion defense stockpiling program undertaken during the Eisenhower administration.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., who led an investigation of the program, fired off stinging criticism focused on multimillion dollar losses to the government. Republicans countered with charges of political bias.

The Kennedy administration began cautious exploration of the situation, which held out hope of help with crop surplus and tricky balance of payment problems but raised prickly political considerations.

8-Day Bridegroom Dies After 150-Foot Plunge

BELLAIRE, Ohio (AP)—A 32-year-old painter married only eight days plunged 150 feet to his death Sunday in a leap from a bridge into the Ohio River. Don Fleming of Bellaire was retrieved from the river almost immediately but died a few minutes after arriving at Bellaire Hospital.

It was unofficially reported the Russians were in the market for as many as 200 million bushels of American wheat.

If a deal was brought off might provide a precedent for expansion of Soviet-American trade into other areas of commerce. General indicators of business and the economy's health turned up during the week were nearly all for the good.

Steel production registered its fifth consecutive weekly rise, taking its biggest jump upward since March, and aluminum men, taking advantage of near capacity operations, nudged ingot prices upward one half cent to 23 cents a pound.

The stock market bobbed to another all-time high by some indexes amid battling among bulls and bears that kept prices churning.

The cost-of-living yardstick for August was reassuring. It held steady after fairly sharp rises in June and July — although at a level 1 1/2 per cent above a year earlier.

New car sales slumped nearly a per cent in the middle 19 days of September but automakers shrugged off the dip. They blamed it on a scarcity of 1964 models in dealers' hands, a normal temporary accompaniment of the model changeover period. Chrysler, out early with its new line, reported sharply increased sales over mid-September of 1962.

In random developments a special board to arbitrate certain aspects of railroad union-management featherbedding dispute buckled down to the job, the international "chicken war" entered a new phase and the New York Stock Exchange order new curbs aimed at toning down sales pitches by some elements in the stock brokerage community.

U. S. trade negotiators rejected a common market offer for a token reduction in newly raised poultry tariffs and moved ahead with plans for retaliatory tariff boosts on a variety of U. S. imports.

In Washington, debate flared again on the much discussed $8 billion defense stockpiling program undertaken during the Eisenhower administration.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., who led an investigation of the program, fired off stinging criticism focused on multimillion dollar losses to the government. Republicans countered with charges of political bias.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Temperatures plunged to the lowest levels of the season over Ohio early today.

Columbus with a low of 31 degrees broke the record for the date set back in 1888 and equalled the all-time record for the month of September.

Light frost was deposited, especially in the central counties. Zanesville reported an early morning temperature of 32, while Toledo and Findlay were 36.

An extensive high pressure area will insure fair weather today, tonight and Tuesday over Ohio. It will be cool with possible frost again tonight, but afternoon readings Tuesday will rise into the upper 60s and lower 70s.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS
SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO—Temperatures will average near normal. Normal high 71-77, normal low 47-52. Cool tonight, followed by slow warming trend rest of week. Little or no rainfall likely.

NORTHERN OHIO—Temperatures will average near normal. Normal high 68-69, normal low 46-51. Warmer through Wednesday, then a little cooler Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Little or no rainfall.

Ohio Little Hoover Savings Predicted at $35 Million

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—What would $35 million buy in the way of state services?

That is the amount, apparently, the "Little Hoover Commission" hopes can be saved through careful administration of Ohio's tax dollars.

The commission's chairman dropped that figure a week ago in advance of what promises to be a month-long release — by dribs and drabs and department by department — of the commission's economy proposals intended as a follow-up to the austerity program of Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes.

If the commission chairman's estimate of $35 million is correct, and if the General Assembly which returns Dec. 2 will accept all the economy suggestions, the results could be impressive — or unimpressive — depending on how you look at it.

The $34 million in savings — and these are the impressive figures — would more than pay for the operation in the next two years of all the state offices authorized by the Ohio Constitution.

That amount, used in another way, would cover more than the state's total contribution to the expenses of Ohio State University for one year.

But — and here's the unimpressive side — the $35 million probably wouldn't pay for a single year's increase in the state's subsidy for public schools.

Since the "Little Hoover Commission" has not yet specified where it proposes to slash state spending, it is impossible to estimate the amount of opposition its recommendations may generate in the legislature.

But if the reaction to a "leaked" preview some weeks ago is any criterion, there may be some fireworks. That was in connection with a suggestion that the State Library Board be abolished as an unnecessary duplication of other facilities. The storm was instantaneous and statewide — to the point that the Rhodes administration took pains to let it be known it is not entirely sympathetic.

Just how far the demands of changing times have swung the state from the course charted by its founding fathers 160 years ago is illustrated by the $35-million figure.

During the present two-year bookkeeping period, the operations of the offices of all elected officials — from governor on down — with such things as the Department of Agriculture, Public Works and Finance thrown in along with the judiciary and the General Assembly, will cost just under $35 million. That's less than three per cent of Ohio's General Fund budget to cover the things the founders believed essential.

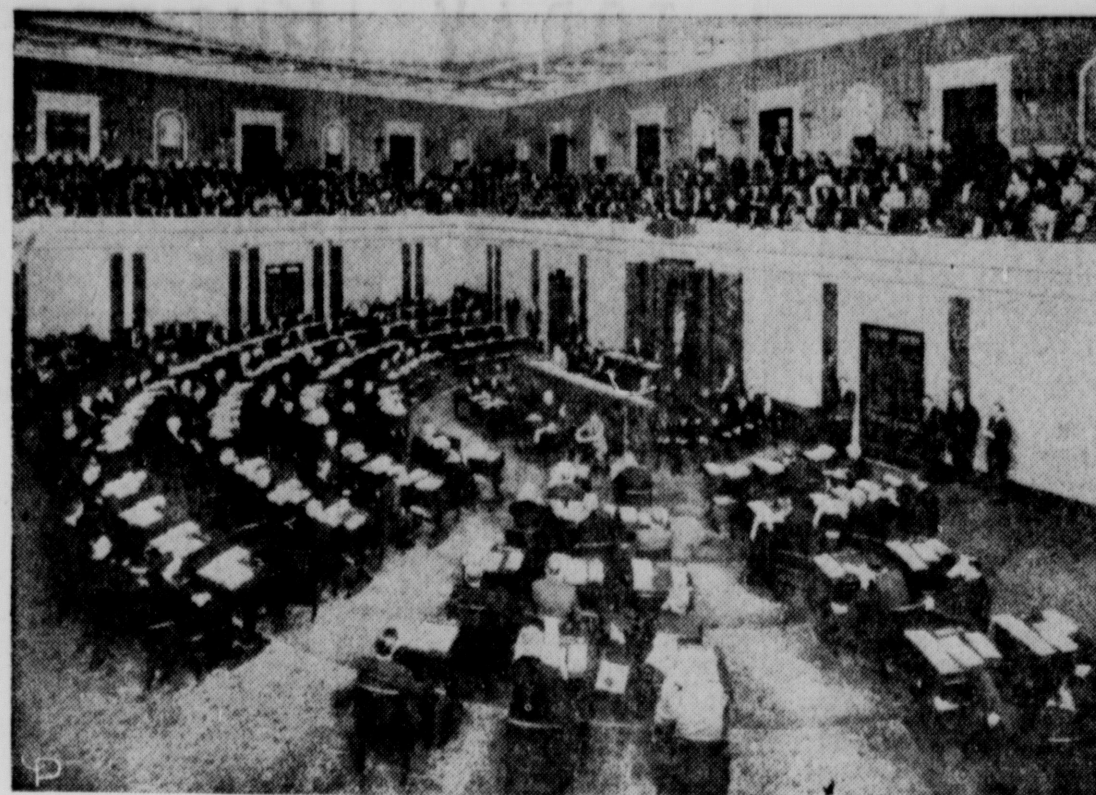

Early this year, when the Rhodes administration took over the state government was beset by a ready cash problem and it still is in spite of a 9.1 per cent across-the-board spending cut ordered by Finance Director Richard L. Krabach. That slash, however applied only to personnel and supplies and not to the big subsidy programs which make up about 80 per cent of the General Fund budget.

If the $35-million total in new cuts were to come only in programs financed by the General Fund, they would amount to about 13 per cent on top of the 9 per cent slash ordered earlier in the year.

Some insiders say, however, that some of the savings to be proposed by the "Little Hoover Commission" will be in the Highway Department. Highway money does not come out of the General Fund.

The fiscal philosophy of many money experts in the Rhodes administration is that, with the soaring costs of some programs like public schools and higher education, spending on some other traditional, but less essential, programs must be trimmed back sharply in the next few years.

Oklahoma Win Puts Team at Top of Heap

Wilkinson's Outfit Swamps Southern Cal On College Gridiron

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"We still have to improve in a lot of ways," said Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson.
Maybe so, but knocking off the nation's top-ranked college football team should do for a start.
"We've still got eight games to go," reminded the Sooner coach.
Maybe so, but seven of them are with Big Eight opposition, against which Wilkinson has a 93-8-2 lifetime mark.
It took Wilkinson about five minutes to overcome his elation after Oklahoma's 17-12 upset of top-ranked and defending national champion Southern California in Los Angeles Saturday, regain his usual air of caution, and begin pointing out Sooner shortcomings.
The victory, which snapped a string of 12 victories for Rose Bowl champion Southern Cal, was the big one on the Oklahoma comeback that started with last year's 8-2 performance. It made Oklahoma, ranked third last week, a prime candidate to succeed the Trojans in the No. 1 spot.
Wilkinson now has a week off to prepare his swarming Sooners for a date with old foe Texas, ranked No. 4 nationally before Saturday's 49-7 romp over Texas Tech. The rest of the Oklahoma schedule is against conference competition.
A fine ball control performance, engineered by quarterback Bobby Page, and two clutch runs by Joe Don Looney were the Oklahoma keys. Looney scored one touchdown and set up another, each with a 19-yard gain on a complex reverse play.
Arkansas, No. 8, was the only other ranked team to fall, bowing before Missouri 7-6 when Missouri quarterback Gar Lane put together a 70-yard third-period scoring drive.
Second-ranked Alabama made its bid for the No. 1 position with a 28-0 rout of winless Tulane and No. 5 Navy beat William and Mary by the same score. Middle Tennessee's Roger Staubach had 297 yards rushing and passing for an Academy record.
Wisconsin and Northwestern, a pair of Big Ten powers ranked sixth and seventh in the nation, respectively, had to come from behind to gain their second straight victories. Wisconsin edged Notre Dame 14-9 and Northwestern lost the ball six times on fumbles and interceptions but managed to take Indiana 34-21.
Billy Lothridge threw three touchdown passes, kicked two field goals and three extra points in leading No. 9 Georgia Tech to a 27-0 decision over Clemson. Pittsburgh, sparked by the all-around play of Fred Mazurek, beat stubborn Washington 13-6 to uphold its No. 10 ranking.
The Big Ten suffered a couple of surprises when Miami of Florida shut out Purdue for the first time in 30 games, 3-0, and favored Iowa was held to a 14-14 tie by Washington State. The Cougars, ready to try for a field goal, might have won if they had not been denied a fourth down in the confusion of the game's final seconds.
Ohio State and Air Force made big bids to gain a ranking, with Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes showing a much flashier attack in a 17-0 decision over Texas A&M. Quarterback Terry Isaacson scored four touchdowns in the Air Force's 69-0 rout of Colorado State U.

Ohio College Football Show Produces Few Surprises

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio's collegiate gridirers came through the second week of the young season in fine fashion Saturday with only a sprinkling of surprises.
As expected, Ohio State, Ohio University and Bowling Green came away with victories.
In the shocker department was Marshall's 14-14 tie with Miami; Otterbein's 28-28 standoff with Ohio Conference kingpin Wittenberg and Hiram's 52-0 pasting of Oberlin.

In the top attraction of a 21-game card, Ohio States youthful Buckeyes got off to an impressive start by blanketing Texas A & M 17-0 before 81,241 fans.
The victory made Coach Woody Hayes the winningest tutor in Buckeye history. He has a record of 79 wins, 26 losses and 6 ties to break a tie with the late Dr. John Wilce who compiled a 78-3-9 record in his long career several decades ago.

Buckeye rotors were treated to some new wrinkles as the Hayes grind'em - out machine went to the airways 16 times.
What's more, Hayes' fullback-up-the-middle play took a back seat to Ohio's scurrying halfbacks who carried 38 times in 58 rushes, possibly a new high in that department.

Bowling Green, playing on the road, staged an awesome 40-47 offensive show, scored in every period and went on to trounce Southern Illinois, 31-6. It was the second straight conquest for the Falcons.

Elsewhere, Ohio U. broke into the victory column with a hard-fought 13-6 decision over Dayton

The Bobcats spotted the flyers a 6-0 edge but came back with two TDs and a stubborn defense to prevail.

Miami, highly touted at the outset and expected to be the team to beat in the tough Mid-American Conference, had to settle for a tie with usually complacent Marshall.

Miami halfback Scott Tyler turned in the play of the game with a 92-yard touchdown run, the longest run from scrimmage in the school's history.

In a real thriller, Harry Locker hit Dave Kull with a 13-yard scoring pass with only 12 seconds remaining to gain Otterbein a tie with Wittenberg.

The deadlock shattered the Tigers' 18-game conference winning streak. Wittenberg led 28-8 at halftime and by two touchdowns with only four minutes to play.

Hiram, usually the floor mat in the 15-member Ohio Conference, got a great effort from quarterback John Ferrara who connected for three touchdown passes and booted four extra points in the Terriors romp over Oberlin.

In other highlights, halfback Dave Thobe scored on runs of 59 and 80 yards to lead Findlay to a 28-7 victory over Eastern Kentucky; Mike Goings scored three of his team's four touchdowns in Bluffton's 29-7 verdict over Defiance; Dale Dickson tallied on runs of 59, 34 and 42 yards as Muskingum walloped Marietta 57-12; Ashland whitewashed Wilmington, 19-0, in the Mid-Ohio Conference opener for both; Susquehanna scored in the final 30 seconds to repel Youngstown, 12-7; Baldwin-Wallace tallied in the last four minutes to beat Akron 14-10 in a key OC contest; Xavier and Kent State fought to a 7-7 tie; Toledo blew a 14-0 lead and bowed to Villanova, 18-14, and Cincinnati was no match for Army, yielding to the Cadets, 22-0.

In probably the most frustrating experience of the day, Ohio Wesleyan and Heidelberg played to a 0-0 tie. The Bishops had the ball on the Student Princes' two-yard stripe with 21 seconds to play but halfback Floyd Carson came through with a vital interception to kill the threat.

Circleville Coaches Name Four Tigers

The Circleville Coaching staff came up with four Tigers of the week following a review of the movies of Friday's football game between the Tigers and Pleasant View.

"The top two backs and the top two linemen were so close we didn't feel we could name one," head coach Paul Starr said today.

Duke Fyffe and Hodge Dade gained top honors in the backfield. Bob Purcell and John Hatcher were named in the line.

Fyffe was given an 89 by the coaches and Dade an 88. Purcell had an 89 and Hatcher an 88 while Joe List was a close third with an 87.

OVERALL the scores of the Circleville gridirers were the highest so far this year with the majority of the boys scoring 70 and above.

The Tiger coaching staff was both pleased and surprised after viewing the movies, according to Starr.

"The mistakes that we made really hurt us this week," Starr reported. He pointed out that two errors, a fumble on the one-yard line and an intercepted pass deep in Pleasant View territory, broke up Circleville's scoring threats.

Another one, letting the PV end get behind the defense, resulted in a score for the Panthers.

"The boys are really hustling out there and they are bound to make mistakes," Starr said. "And there is a lot of pressure on the team this year with a 19-game streak going."

Fyffe and Dade were also the leading tacklers for the Tigers. Fyffe had nine and six assists, while Dade was in on eight and had three assists.

PURCELL was credited with seven tackles and seven assists, Pharr had five and two assists. Mike Ramey came up with nine assists although he had no individual tackles and Tom Copland had three and eight assists.

Getting the most Tiger heads were Bruce Horn, with a key block and two kick off tackles, and Howard Fletcher, with a key block, two recovered fumbles and a tackle on a punt.

Other Tiger heads went to Jack Martin, Purcell, Jim McCoskey, Fyffe, Copland, Pharr and Jeff Ankrom.

Quarterback Tom Tootle was cited by Starr for his call of the quarterback bootleg play that accounted for Circleville's final touchdown.

Starr noted that Tootle set the play up by using what he calls the "wham series" on plays just prior to it. The Tiger quarterback saw the end was not coming after him on these series, called the bootleg and went into the end zone standing up.

Friday the Tigers host Washington C. H. in the homecoming tilt here.

The coaching staff feels the Blue Lions will be by far the best team the Tigers have faced this year.

Browns Win, But Big Test Due Saturday

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's astonishing Browns, having climbed over three of the National Football League's lesser lights, face the moment of truth next Saturday.

Blanton Collier, in his first year at the helm after succeeding Paul Brown, has silenced the skeptics by piloting the club to the loop's scoring lead (98 points) and the lone undefeated mark in the Eastern Conference.

The latest triumph, 20-6 over the winless Los Angeles Rams on the slippery, rain-swept Municipal Stadium turf Sunday, was added to previous verdicts over Washington and Dallas.

Neither Dallas nor Los Angeles has won a game and Washington's two victories were scored over those teams—so the fans are waiting for Saturday night's tilt with Pittsburgh and the following week's engagement at New York, to decide whether the "new look" Browns are for real.

Two things are certain. The Browns' big threats — fullback Jim Brown and quarterback Frank Ryan—are off to the greatest starts of their careers.

In three games Brown has rushed for 489 yards, almost half the total of 996 he had for 14 games a year ago, and if he maintains his 163-yard average he could catapult over the 2,000-yard mark for the campaign.

Ryan has completed 41 of 64 passes for 674 yards and 6 touchdowns, a 10.5-yard per pass average and a 63.9 completion percentage. Last year he completed 112 of 194 for 10 touchdowns, 1,541 yards, an average of 7.94 yards per pass and a 57.7 completion percentage.

Yank Catcher To Be Key Man in Series

NEW YORK (AP) — If there is such a thing as a key man in a World Series, Elston Howard, the durable New York catcher, could be the man in the upcoming post-season struggle between the Yankees and Los Angeles Dodgers.

Attention will be focused on Howard right from the start. Elie, along with Mickey Mantle, represents the main right-handed power against the Dodgers' left-handed pitching. This series shapes up as one southpaw duel after another.

Two of baseball's very best left-handers, the Yankees' Whitey Ford and the Dodgers' Sandy Koufax, will start in Wednesday's opener at Yankee Stadium. Another southpaw duel between Dodger veteran Johnny Dodgers and Yankee youngster Al Downing is slated for the second game.

The expected 70,000 opening game customers will be watching Howard intently the moment one of the Dodgers' speed demons, notably Maury Wills and Willie Davis, reach base. The pilfering pair have 65 of the team's major league leading total of 123 stolen bases. The Yankees have stolen only 41 bases.

Oklahoma Win Puts Team at Top of Heap

Wilkinson's Outfit Swamps Southern Cal On College Gridiron

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"We still have to improve in a lot of ways," said Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson.

Maybe so, but knocking off the nation's top-ranked college football team should do for a start.

"We've still got eight games to go," reminded the Sooners coach.

Maybe so, but seven of them are with Big Eight opposition, against which Wilkinson has a 93-2 lifetime mark.

It took Wilkinson about five minutes to overcome his elation after Oklahoma's 17-12 upset of top-ranked and defending national champion Southern California in Los Angeles Saturday, regain his usual air of caution, and begin pointing out Sooners shortcomings.

The victory, which snapped a string of 12 victories for Rose Bowl champion Southern Cal, was the big one on the Oklahoma comeback that started with last year's 8-2 performance. It made Oklahoma, ranked third last week, a prime candidate to succeed the Trojans in the No. 1 spot.

Wilkinson now has a week off to prepare his swarming Sooners for a date with old foe Texas, ranked No. 4 nationally before Saturday's 49-7 romp over Texas Tech. The rest of the Oklahoma schedule is against conference competition.

A fine ball control performance, engineered by quarterback Bobby Page, and two clutch runs by Joe Don Looney were the Oklahoma keys. Looney scored one touchdown and set up another, each with a 19-yard gain on a complex reverse play.

Arkansas, No. 8, was the only other ranked team to fall, bowing before Missouri 7-6 when Missouri quarterback Gar Lane put together a 70-yard third-period scoring drive.

Second-ranked Alabama made its bid for the No. 1 position with a 28-0 rout of winless Tulane and No. 5 Navy beat William and Mary by the same score. Middle Tennessee's 29-7 victory over Arkansas moved the Volunteers into the No. 10 ranking.

Wisconsin and Northwestern, a pair of Big Ten powers ranked sixth and seventh in the nation, respectively, had to come from behind to gain their second straight victories. Wisconsin edged Notre Dame 14-9 and Northwestern lost the ball six times on fumbles and interceptions but managed to take Indiana 34-21.

Billy Lothridge threw three touchdown passes, kicked two field goals and three extra points in leading No. 9 Georgia Tech to a 27-0 decision over Clemson. Pittsburgh, sparked by the all-around play of Fred Mazurek, beat stubborn Washington 13-6 to uphold its No. 10 ranking.

The Big Ten suffered a couple of surprises when Miami of Florida shut out Purdue for the first time in 30 games, 3-0, and favored Iowa was held to a 14-14 tie by Washington State. The Cougars, ready to try for a field goal, might have won if they had not been denied a fourth down in the confusion of the game's final seconds.

Ohio State and Air Force made big bids to gain a ranking, with Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes showing a much flashier attack in a 17-0 decision over Texas A&M. Quarterback Terry Isaacson scored four touchdowns in the Air Force's 69-0 rout of Colorado State U.

Ohio College Football Show Produces Few Surprises

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio's collegiate gridiron came through the second week of the young season in fine fashion Saturday with only a sprinkling of surprises.

As expected, Ohio State, Ohio University and Bowling Green came away with victories.

In the shocker department was Marshall's 14-14 tie with Miami; Otterbein's 28-28 standoff with Ohio Conference kingpin Wittenberg and Hiram's 52-0 pasting of Oberlin.

In the top attraction of a 21-game card, Ohio States youthful Buckeyes got off to an impressive start by blanking Texas A & M 17-0 before 81,241 fans.

The victory made Coach Woody Hayes the winningest tutor in Buckeye history. He has a record of 79 wins, 26 losses and 6 ties to break a tie with the late Dr. John Wilce who compiled a 78-3-9 record in his long career several decades ago.

Buckeye rotors were treated to some new wrinkles as the Hayes grind-em-out machine went to the airways 16 times.

What's more, Hayes' fullback-up-the-middle play took a back seat to Ohio's scurrying halfbacks who carried 38 times in 58 rushes, possibly a new high in that department.

Bowling Green, playing on the road, staged an awesome 404-yard offensive show, scored in every period and went on to trounce Southern Illinois, 31-6. It was the second straight conquest for the Falcons.

Elsewhere, Ohio U. broke into the victory column with a hard-fought 13-6 decision over Dayton.

Two of baseball's very best left-handers, the Yankees' Whitey Ford and the Dodgers' Sandy Koufax, will start in Wednesday's opener at Yankee Stadium. Another southpaw duel between Dodger veteran Johnny Dodges and Yankee youngster Al Downing is slated for the second game.

The expected 70,000 opening game customers will be watching Howard intently the moment one of the Dodgers' speed demons, notably Maury Wills and Willie Davis, reach base. The puffering pair have 65 of the team's major league leading total of 123 stolen bases. The Yankees have stolen only 41 bases.

The Bobcats spotted the flyers a 6-0 edge but came back with two TDs and a stubborn defense to prevail.

Miami, highly touted at the outset and expected to be the team to beat in the tough Mid-American Conference, had to settle for a tie with usually complacent Marshall.

Miami halfback Scott Tyler turned in the play of the game with a 92-yard touchdown run, the longest run from scrimmage in the school's history.

In a real thriller, Harry Lockder hit Dave Kull with a 13-yard scoring pass with only 12 seconds remaining to gain Otterbein a tie with Wittenberg.

The deadlock shattered the Tigers' 18-game conference winning streak. Wittenberg led 28-8 at halftime and by two touchdowns with only four minutes to play.

Hiram, usually the floor mat in the 15-member Ohio Conference, got a great effort from quarterback John Ferrara who connected for three touchdown passes and booted four extra points in the Terris romp over Oberlin.

In other highlights, halfback Dave Thober scored on runs of 59 and 80 yards to lead Findlay to a 28-7 victory over Eastern Kentucky; Mike Goings scored three of his team's four touchdowns in Bluffton's 29-7 verdict over Defiance; Dale Dickson tallied on runs of 59, 34 and 42 yards as Muskingum walloped Marietta 57-12; Ashland whitewashed Wilmington, 19-0, in the Mid-Ohio Conference opener for both; Susquehanna scored in the final 30 seconds to repel Youngstown, 12-7; Baldwin-Wallace tallied in the last four minutes to beat Akron 14-10 in a key OC contest; Xavier and Kent State fought to a 7-7 tie; Toledo blew a 14-0 lead and bowed to Villanova, 18-14, and Cincinnati was no match for Army, yielding to the Cadets, 22-0.

In probably the most frustrating experience of the day, Ohio Wesleyan and Heidelberg played to a 0-0 tie. The Bishops had the ball on the Student Princes' two-yard stripe with 21 seconds to play but halfback Floyd Carson came through with a vital interception to kill the threat.

Circleville Coaches Name Four Tigers

The Circleville Coaching staff came up with four Tigers of the week following a review of the movies of Friday's football game between the Tigers and Pleasant View.

"The top two backs and the top two linemen were so close we didn't feel we could name one," head coach Paul Starr said today.

Duke Fyffe and Hodge Dade gained top honors in the backfield. Bob Purcell and John Hatcher were named in the line.

Fyffe was given an 89 by the coaches and Dade an 88. Purcell had an 89 and Hatcher an 88 while Joe List was a close third with an 87.

OVERALL the scores of the Circleville gridgers were the highest so far this year with the majority of the boys scoring 70 and above.

The Tiger coaching staff was both pleased and surprised after viewing the movies, according to Starr.

"The mistakes that we made really hurt us this week," Starr reported. He pointed out that two errors, a fumble on the one-yard line and an intercepted pass deep in Pleasant View territory, broke up Circleville's scoring threats.

Another one, letting the PV end get behind the defense, resulted in a score for the Panthers.

"The boys are really hustling out there and they are bound to make mistakes," Starr said. "And there is a lot of pressure on the team this year with a 19-game streak going."

Fyffe and Dade were also the leading tacklers for the Tigers. Fyffe had nine and six assists, while Dade was in on eight and had three assists.

PURCELL was credited with seven tackles and seven assists. Pharr had five and two assists. Mike Ramey came up with nine assists although he had no individual tackles and Tom Copland had three and eight assists.

Getting the most Tiger heads were Bruce Horn, with a key block and two kick off tackles, and Howard Fletcher, with a key block, two recovered fumbles and a tackle on a punt.

Other Tiger heads went to Jack Martin, Purcell, Jim McCoskey, Fyffe, Copland, Pharr and Jeff Ankrom.

Quarterback Tom Tootle was cited by Starr for his call of the quarterback bootleg play that accounted for Circleville's final touchdown.

Starr noted that Tootle set the play up by using what he calls the "wham series" on plays just prior to it. The Tiger quarterback saw the end was not coming after him on these series, called the bootleg and went into the end zone standing up.

Friday the Tigers host Washington C. H. in the homecoming tilt here.

The coaching staff feels the Blue Lions will be by far the best team the Tigers have faced this year.

Browns Win, But Big Test Due Saturday

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's astonishing Browns, having climbed over three of the National Football League's lesser lights, face the moment of truth next Saturday.

Blanton Collier, in his first year at the helm after succeeding Paul Brown, has silenced the skeptics by piloting the club to the loop's scoring lead (98 points) and the lone undefeated mark in the Eastern Conference.

The latest triumph, 20-6 over the winless Los Angeles Rams on the slippery, rain-swept Municipal Stadium turf Sunday, was added to previous verdicts over Washington and Dallas.

Neither Dallas nor Los Angeles has won a game and Washington's two victories were scored over those teams—so the fans are waiting for Saturday night's tilt with Pittsburgh and the following week's engagement at New York, to decide whether the "new look" Browns are for real.

Two things are certain. The Browns' big threats — fullback Jim Brown and quarterback Frank Ryan—are off to the great starts of their careers.

In three games Brown has rushed for 489 yards, almost half the total of 996 he had for 14 games a year ago, and if he maintains his 163-yard average he could catapult over the 2,000-yard mark for the campaign.

Ryan has completed 41 of 64 passes for 674 yards and 6 touchdowns, a 10.5-yard per pass average and a 63.9 completion percentage. Last year he completed 112 of 194 for 10 touchdowns, 1,541 yards, an average of 7.94 yards per pass and a 57.7 completion percentage.

Rams Running into Trouble But Ex-Rams Are Doing Fine

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Rams are having quarterback trouble, but the ex-Rams are doing fine.

Billy Wade of the Chicago Bears and Frank Ryan of the Cleveland Browns, a pair of former Rams, both had great days Sunday, and kept their teams the only unbeaten, untied clubs in the National Football League.

Wade threw for three touchdowns and ran for another as the Bears moved their record to 3-0 and remained in sole possession of first place in the Western Conference. The Bears ruined Detroit with 28 points in the second quarter and wound up with a 37-21 victory over the Lions, now 1-2.

Ryan tormented the Rams with two touchdowns passes, while Jimmy Brown did the running job in a 20-6 victory The Browns, also 3-0, are now sole holders of the Eastern Conference lead, while the Rams—who have scored only 22 points in three games—are 0-3.

Pittsburgh saddled with a tie in its opener when an extra point try hit the goal post, moved into second place in the East with a 23-10 victory over the previously unbeaten St. Louis Cardinals. The Steelers are 2-0-1.

Another castoff quarterback, Y. A. Tittle, the old Bald Eagle of the New York Giants, returned to action and clobbered the winless Philadelphia Eagles 37-14, to run the Giants' record to 2-1.

In other games, the Green Bay Packers pulled out a wild one over the Baltimore Colts 31-20, Washington trimmed Dallas 21-17 and the Minnesota Vikings swamped the San Francisco 49ers 45-14.

In the American Football League, Houston beat Buffalo 31-20 and the New York Jets nipped the Oakland Raiders 10-7 in Saturday night games. Sunday San Diego belted Kansas City 24-10 to remain undefeated and Denver edged Boston 14-10.

The Bears had not scored a touchdown against Detroit in their last three games, but Wade—the league's leading passer — fixed that in a hurry with an 18-yard scoring pass to Angelo Coia midway in the first period. A fumble recovery and an interception led to two second-period scores, with Wade throwing for both, and then Richie Petitbon scored on a 66-yard interception. Wade carried over for the one in the closing seconds of the half for a 35-0 lead.

Despite a steady rain at Cleveland, Ryan completed nine of 15 passes for 152 yards as he led the way over his old team. Jimmy Brown ran for 95 yards in 22 tries, and now has 489 yards in 57 attempts in three games. He scored on an 18-yard run.

The Steelers, who have never won a division title but look like contenders this year, finally got going in the last quarter, with substitute fullback Bob Ferguson pacing the offense.

Down 10-6 after three periods, the Steelers got 17 points in the final quarter with Ferguson gaining key yardage. Bill Triplett's 63-yard touchdown run on the third scrimmage play of the game stunned the Steelers. The Cards now are 2-1.

Tittle, the old 49er who missed the Steeler game last week with chest injuries, was back on target and lifted the entire Giant team with a superb performance. He completed 12 of his first 14 passes and threw to Joe Walton Del Shofner and Joe Morrison to touch downs. Morrison also plunged one yard and dashed 70 yards for other touchdowns.

Packer coach Vince Lombardi summed up the battle with the Colts this way: "That was no game for sane people."

The Packers, trailing 17-14, had third down and four on the Colt 35 as the fourth quarter opened. The ball was tumbled in the backfield on an intended end sweep and bounced around on the Colt 45. Bart Starr found it and threw it to Boyd Dowler on the 25. He trotted over for the touchdown

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:
NEGRO VOTING: Negroes do not vote in a bloc, says one of their leaders, Roy Wilkins.
"They'll vote for anybody who will treat them right," Wilkins said Sunday, and added that members of this race favor re-election of President Kennedy because he "is doing something for them."
Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was interviewed on a non-network television program, "Youth Wants to Know."

Of Sen. Barry Goldwater, a possible Republican presidential candidate, Wilkins said there would be "great apprehension" among Negroes if the Arizona brought into the White House certain views expressed in his book, "The Conscience of a Conservative."
Wilkins attributed to Goldwater the view that "states' rights should take precedence over federal action and that the civil rights question should be left to the states."

Former Residents Associated In Study of Teaching English

Three former Circleville residents, now secondary level English teachers, are directly associated with a two-year survey study on the teaching of high school English.

The teachers are Miss Margaret Rooney and Eugene T. Smith, both of Fairmont High School, Kettering, O., and Charles G. Will, of Upper Arlington High School, Columbus.

Fairmont and Arlington are two of 110 schools across the country involved in a comprehensive study of English programs, the first in more than 30 years.

The project is to be conducted by the University of Illinois and sponsored by the National Council of Teachers of English. It is financed by the U. S. Office of Education.

PURPOSE of the study is to identify and describe current programs and practices of highly regarded English departments throughout the country.

The former Circleville residents, as part of the project staff, will try to determine what characteristics promote success in English through questionnaires, interviews and observation.

The schools participating were selected from 43 states and were recommended for their significant English programs.

The project is to continue through August of 1965, when a comprehensive report will be submitted to the U. S. Office of Education.

Miss Evelyn Gattrell and Mrs. Mary Rader Heffner, both Kettering elementary teachers, are also former Circleville residents.

4 Railroad Aides Hurt In Pileup

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) —

Four crewmen were hurt Sunday night, one seriously, when a Detroit, Toledo & Ironton freight train derailed southwest of this Ross County community.

The sheriff's office said 33 cars and 4 engines of the 58-car freight left the tracks on a sharp curve about 16 miles from here.

Some of the box cars were piled five high and many fell over embankments, a sheriff's deputy said. At least 500 feet of track was torn up and four trailer cars carrying new automobiles were on fire and expected to burn all night.

A spokesman for the Chillicothe Fire Department said the blaze, which started from gasoline in one of the autos, would be allowed to burn itself out but was under control.

The sheriff's office listed the injured as Aron Ferguson, 70, of Springfield, the engineer; Marlin Law, 34, of Jackson, the fireman; William Ford, 43, of Springfield, the brakeman, and Earl Edington, 52, of Springfield, the conductor. All except Ferguson, who suffered abrasions, contusions and other injuries were treated at Chillicothe Hospital and released.
